Rumors Heard Of Early Changes In King Cabinet

Isley May Be Finance Minister If Dunning Retires

New Senators Soon

OTTAWA (CP)—Early reorganization of the Dominion cabinet is rumored again, coupled with the likelihood that a number of the six Senate vacancies will be filled before the next session of Parliament.

It is reported tentative decision has been reached on some Senate appointments, involving the retirement of certain ministers to the red chamber and the infusion of new blood in the cabinet.

With two ministers ill and 11 absent either abroad or in Canada, Prime Minister King and Hon. T. A. Crerar, Minister of Resources, were the only members of the cabinet actively at their posts today.

Hon. Charles Dunning, Minister of Finance, is recuperating from a heart ailment in his riding of Queens, Prince Edward Island. Hon. J. C. Elliott, Postmaster-General, has been ill since early this year, and his return to active work at the head of his department is problematical.

Hon. J. L. Isley, Minister of Revenue, and Hon. Norman Rogers, Minister of Labor, were in their native Nova Scotia at the week-end, but the former will be here for Tuesday's cabinet meeting, and Mr. Rogers will be back early in September.

Hon. C. D. Howe, Minister of Transport, who was on a visit to his summer home near Boston, was due back late today.

ISLEY FOR FINANCE

There has been much speculation over possible cabinet changes. Mr. Isley has been mentioned prominently as likely successor to Mr. Dunning if the Finance Minister decides to take a less strenuous portfolio.

Retirement of Mr. Power and Secretary of State Rinfret has been rumored often, and there are three Quebec Senate vacancies to which they could be appointed. Dr. J. J. McCann, member for Renfrew South, has been suggested as a likely successor to Mr. Power.

Several Toronto members have been mentioned for the Postmaster-General's portfolio, notably W. A. Mulock, member for North York, who the Prime Minister prophesied at a Liberal picnic in that riding a week ago would go a long way in public life.

Cabinet reorganization would open up ridings for by-elections, and such a move is usually reserved for the eve of a general election. But illness and the growing list of Senate vacancies to be filled may prompt the Prime Minister to act at once rather than to wait until next year.

There are already federal vacancies in Montreal-Cartier, London and Waterloo South, all caused by deaths of the sitting members. These by-elections will not be called until late in the autumn. Two were held by Conservatives and one by Liberal. It has been expected Hon. Robert Manion, Conservative leader, would seek election in one of them.

Of the Senate vacancies three are in Quebec and one each in Ontario, Manitoba and Alberta.

THE WEATHER

VICTORIA, 9 a.m. today—Pressure is relatively low over northeastern British Columbia and high southeast of Vancouver. The weather has been fine and warm throughout the province with the exception of fog patches on the coast. It has been mostly fair and moderately warm on the prairie.

Eleven Hurt At Britannia Mine

Electric Train Carrying Sixty Runs Down Slope Out of Control

VANCOUVER (CP)—An electric train ran out of control near Britannia Mine, 30 miles north of Vancouver, Sunday, and 10 men are in hospital here with injuries suffered in jumping from the two passenger cars.

Cause of the accident was undetermined. The train, carrying some 60 persons, including a few women and one child, plunged through a locked switch and rammed a standing locomotive on a siding.

Early Sunday morning a 15-ton electric locomotive and two cars left the main camp of the copper mine, headed 3½ miles down a gradual slope from the mine, at 2,200-foot elevation, to the head of a sharp 1,600-foot decline to the shore of Howe Sound.

Most of those aboard the train were en route to Vancouver on holiday leave.

Halfway down the gradual slope from the mine, witness said, the train seemed to get out of control. Some of the men in hospital here said its speed was 40 miles an hour as it neared the switch.

Shouting in panic, 25 men jumped from the cars to the rocky ground. It was the men who jumped that were hurt.

PASSED SWITCH

The train raced through a switch at the 1,600-foot level, where it was scheduled to stop to transfer passengers to cable cars for the trip to sea level.

Several hundred yards farther on it struck the locomotive and stopped without derailling and without injuring anyone more seriously than scratches and bruises.

Company officials here were unable to explain how the accident occurred. They said the motorman, whose name they did not announce, was an experienced man.

The injured are: William Terry, back and possible internal injuries.

Frank Evich, fractured ribs and possible internal injuries.

Ernest Friedrich, broken arm and cuts and bruises.

George Robinson, knee and face injuries.

A. Gastro, possible back injuries and lacerations.

Jens Madsen, head and back injuries.

Walter Tiessen, knee injury.

Dr. Williamson, face cuts, released from the hospital after treatment.

Three other men, named Bell, Marslew and Yudelak suffered minor hurts.

An official company statement did not agree entirely with statements of injured.

Chinese Troops Retake Towns

Japanese Offensive on Upper Yangtze Reported Broken

SHANGHAI (AP)—Chinese asserted Monday they had cracked the Japanese offensive on the north bank of the upper Yangtze River, recapturing three important towns the invaders won in six weeks of fighting.

The towns were Tieshaw, Taihu and Sussing, north of Kiangsi, and about 135 miles downriver from Hankow, China's provisional capital.

The Chinese also said they had cut off Japanese advance forces at Hwangmei, spearhead of the Japanese drive up the north bank, and now were attacking the town.

The Japanese, on the other hand, reported they were advancing on the Peiping-Hankow railway after having captured Luan and Sukiafow, near the Honan-Anhui border about 100 miles north of the Hwangmei sector.

PARALYSIS WANES

EDMONTON (CP)—Health officials in Alberta were cheered today by a lull in the province's wave of infantile paralysis, which has been reported in 60 cases and eight deaths since July 1.

No new cases were noted at the weekend anywhere in the province. Patients in Medicine Hat and Turner Valley districts, hardest-hit areas in Alberta, all were progressing toward recovery. So were three mildly affected victims in Edmonton.

HERE WITH TIMBER IMPORTERS—Ernest P. Tetsall, past president of the Timber Trade Federation of the United Kingdom, centre, was snapped by the Times cameraman this morning. On his right is W. A. McAdam, acting agent-general for British Columbia in London, who is responsible for the visit of the 34 British and French timber importers, who arrived yesterday. On Mr. Tetsall's left is Norman French, editor of the Timber Trade Journal.

Timber Importers Here

Importers From Britain and France Will See Logging Operations on Island

Combining lavish praise for the hospitality accorded to them in British Columbia with expressions of greater promise for the province's timber market in the United Kingdom, the touring British and French timber importers' party arrived in Victoria over the week-end.

"We are very grateful to the government for giving us this excellent opportunity to see your timber industry in actual operation," Ernest P. Tetsall, past president of the British Timber Trade Federation, told the Times at the Empress Hotel this morning. Mr. Tetsall is spokesman for the party.

This morning Mr. Tetsall, with W. A. McAdam, acting agent-general for British Columbia in London, and Norman French, editor of the Timber Trade Journal in London, called on Premier Pattullo at the Legislative Buildings and exchanged official greetings.

Arriving on the afternoon boat yesterday from Vancouver after three days inspecting timber operations on the mainland, the visitors were all keenly anxious to see the actual logging in the woods, which is in store for them this week up-island.

They were entertained to tea after their arrival at Mrs. Butcher's gardens. This morning they were out golfing, fishing, playing tennis and other recreation.

This afternoon they are attending a reception at Government House and this evening will be guests of the provincial government at a banquet in the Empress Hotel.

At the banquet J. M. Craig, chairman of Craig's Limited, will, speak for English importers; A. McDougall, of Glasgow, for Scottish importers, and C. M. O'Kelly, chairman of the Irish Timber Importers' Association, for the Irish, with Mr. Tetsall giving the main address.

Tomorrow at 8:30 they will head up-island in buses for visits to Fairbridge, Bledel, Stewart and Welch Mill, logging operations and various island beauty spots.

Government reports said Gen. Asensio's troops had gained nearly 15 miles since they started their counter-offensive to protect the Almaden mines 10 days ago.

CLIMBER HURT IN MOUNTAIN SLIDE

BELLINGHAM, Wash. (AP)—Ralph Grahn, 19, Seattle, was in a hospital today with a fractured pelvis after he and three youthful companions barely escaped death on an icy slope of Mount Shuksan Saturday morning.

The four, members of a party of eight from Seattle, were roped together. Grahn was on one end of the line and his cleats were the last to give way. Some of the others managed to gain new footing after a slide of 300 feet over sheer ice, but Grahn was slipped over the edge of the ice pack into a cavern. All were in perilous positions and hours were lost dragging the badly injured climber back to a ledge at the chimney's base, 2,500 feet below the summit of the 9,038-foot rugged mountain.

3 Hurt as Car Leaps Culvert

Couple in Hospital After Sooko Crash; Two Unhurt on Malahat

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Lavender of Saseenow were reported doing fairly well this morning at the Jubilee Hospital, where they were taken after their car left the Sooko Road at a culvert near Milne's Landing at 11:15 Saturday night.

Mr. Lavender received a fractured knee, cuts and bruises and Mrs. Lavender head injuries.

Miss Donaldson of Winnipeg, a passenger in the car, was taken to the home of friends at Sooko with whom she had been staying. She suffered a slight cut on the knee. Mrs. Conder of Saseenow, another passenger, escaped unhurt.

According to a provincial police report, the car went out of control, plunged through a light railing at the edge of the culvert and landed on its side in a ravine 14 feet deep. The machine was seriously damaged.

Mr. and Mrs. Lavender were brought to the Jubilee Hospital by C. and C. ambulance.

Clifford H. McLean, of Port Alberni and R. H. Meldrum, 35 South Turner Street, escaped unhurt when the cars were driving sideswiped on the Malahat near the 17-mile post at 10:45 last night. Both cars were damaged.

Fire in Sydney, N.S.

SYDNEY, N.S. (CP)—Sydney firemen were still fighting one of the most stubborn fires of the year today eight hours after an alarm was rung in for a blaze that gutted a business block in the downtown district. The loss was estimated at $75,000.

Government reports said Gen. Asensio's troops had gained nearly 15 miles since they started their counter-offensive to protect the Almaden mines 10 days ago.

To Regulate Gas Trade

But Board Hazards No Guess on Possible Price Cut in B.C.

Regulation of trade practices in the gasoline business as well as price-fixing is planned by the Coal and Petroleum Control Board, Dr. W. A. Carrothers, chairman, revealed today.

Dr. Carrothers announced he has sent out a draft of regulations to all branches of the industry outlining what is proposed and seeking suggestions.

The chairman was unable to say definitely when the fixing of gas prices will commence, nor would he hazard a guess as to how great or how little the reduction, if any, might be.

Premier Pattullo at the Liberal Party convention predicted a cut in gasoline prices soon.

"All I can say," said Dr. Carrothers, "is that it will be in the not distant future, depending on when we finish our present investigations."

Besides fixing prices, the board plans to control the grading of gasoline. At the present time there are two grades generally sold, ethyl and standard, but the content of these is simply a matter for the companies.

It is also planned to regulate the relationship between gasoline companies and retailers in the matter of special discounts, subsidies and the like which might be regarded as unfair competition when prices are fixed.

Another regulation would prohibit the giving away of commodities as special premiums in selling gasoline.

Regulation of the number of retail outlets also comes under the board's control through its licensing system, already in effect.

The board now has roughly 3,000 wholesale and retail petroleum dealers licensed, but whether this covers every outlet is not certain.

Dr. Carrothers explained that every hardware or general store that deals in oil products is required to take out the $1 license, although some do not seem to know it. Products covered by the license include any one of the following: Crude oil, gasoline, diesel oil, fuel oil, lubricating oil and petroleum-coke.

The board is also planning to get a monthly return from all dealers of the gallonage handled and prices charged so it will have a complete picture of the distribution system.

Britain Exerts Pressure On Reich to Avoid Break

Troops Move in Europe

French Forces Exercise Near German and Italian Borders While Hitler Reviews His Massed Units and British Fleet Tunes Up

BERLIN (AP)—Chancellor Hitler continued today his whirlwind inspection tour of Germany's western front which is expected to take him through the newly-created fortifications zone from Aachen, near the German-Belgium frontier, south to the vicinity of Basel, Switzerland.

Great Britain has called her fleet to North Sea stations for routine exercises early in September. The army has been ordered into war games in a half-dozen sectors in the United Kingdom.

FRENCH EXERCISES

PARIS (AP)—France moved her troops into position on her eastern frontiers facing Germany and Italy today for manoeuvres under conditions widely feared as a threat to European peace.

More than 20,000 men—including an infantry division and cavalry, artillery, tank and air force units—pitched camp at Baldahon, near Besancon, close to the junction of the French, German and Swiss borders, for war games to begin Tuesday.

Manoeuvres of the second Senegalese colonial division were ordered to begin the same day at Aups, near the Italian frontier.

CABINET MEETS

Premier Edouard Daladier and his "national defence" cabinet met today and will meet again tomorrow to carry out his plan for dropping the 40-hour work week in order to step-up production in war industries.

The French troop movements were on a smaller scale than those across the frontier in Germany. Usually well-informed quarters said the French general staff, however, was planning to continue the manoeuvres as long as Germany keeps her forces on a war footing.

By coincidence, the new games were called just southwest of Isola, on the French-Italian border, where a new dispute developed with Rome.

French Leaving Farms in Italy

NICE, France (CP-Havas)—Peasant families moved today from the Isola area on the Italian side of the French frontier. Italy served notice on French farmholders Saturday to quit the territory within 48 hours.

The migration began last night and 50 families crossed into French territory, their livestock burdened with hastily-reaped harvest and their household goods.

An appeal had been sent to Paris by French citizens living around Isola, in the Hashtillon valley, against the expropriation. They asked the French government to compensate them for whatever losses they might incur.

HUNGARIANS ADD TO CZECH PROBLEM

Minority Demands Full Autonomy While Sudeten Crisis Still Unsolved

PRAHA (CP-Havas)—The Czechoslovak government, already harassed by the turbulent Sudeten Germans, was beset by another complication today when the Hungarian minority presented a demand for absolute autonomy.

Representatives of the Magyar autonomist parties called on Premier Milan Hodza with their reply to the government's proposal for minority administrative reform. Their counter-demand was for complete self-government, granting of which, observers said, would in effect sever an important part of the Czechoslovak state from central control.

Meanwhile Lord Runciman, unofficial British mediator who conferred with the Sudeten leader, Konrad Henlein, at Rothenhaus Castle yesterday, worked with his staff on the basis for resumed negotiations which he hopes to bring about between the government and the Sudeten minority. Another meeting between Lord Runciman and the Sudeten leader was scheduled for this week.

Government circles hoped the Runciman-Henlein talks would bear fruit in some kind of concession by the pro-Nazis. Praha, it was contended, has made substantial compromise in the light of its original proposals and has agreed to make further changes.

RELIEF STRIKE ENDS

MONTREAL (CP)—About 500 of 700 striking relief project workers in suburban Verdun returned to road repair jobs this forenoon and the remainder were expected back on duty later in the day.

The men struck Friday, claiming a 44-hour work week and 40 cents an hour wages. After an address by Mayor Herve Ferland at a mass meeting last night, they voted to return to work for a week while a committee negotiated with the city council on their demands.

Record Attempt Delayed By Rain

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah (AP)—A rainstorm today forced postponement of John Cobb's attempt to break the world land speed record of 345.49 miles per hour set Saturday by Capt. George E. T. Eyston.

The storm left large pools of water on the salt race course. Reid Ralston, designer of the car which Cobb has described as the fastest in existence, said if the weather cleared it might be possible to run tomorrow.

Plane Services in China Suspended

HANKOW (AP)—For the first time since the outbreak of the Japanese-Chinese conflict Hankow, Chungking and other interior cities were without regular commercial air communication with the outside world today.

The only two airlines operating between Hongkong and the hinterland announced temporary suspension of service as a result of the machine-gunning of a passenger plane off the south China coast late Wednesday in which 14 persons were killed.

Speaks Plainly in Diplomatic Field to Prevent War

Czech Gap Unbridged

By J. F. SANDERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON—While Europe was confronted with its gravest crisis since 1914, Sir Neville Henderson, ambassador to Germany, today gave Prime Minister Chamberlain and Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax his studied reply to the question on every man's lips: Will Chancellor Hitler march into Czechoslovakia?

Sir Neville flew from Berlin Sunday for a consultation with government leaders as a prelude to a meeting tomorrow of all available cabinet ministers in an emergency session. Lord Stanley, Dominion Secretary, now in Canada, may be the only absentee.

There was no doubt the British government had talked plainly to Germany within the last few days through diplomatic channels far more plainly than through public pronouncements like Sir John Simon's speech Saturday in Scotland in which he stated no predictions could be made as to what nations might have to beat out a conflagration should one start.

Just how far these private warnings have gone is a matter of conjecture, but it is reported reliably that Hitler has been told bluntly and unmistakably what Great Britain will do if he gives marching orders to his mobilized army.

WELL CHOSEN

Sir Neville, noted for his plain speaking in diplomatic circles, is considered the ideal man to tell Hitler what Britain thinks of his sabre rattling and his continued application of outside pressure on the Czech-Sudeten German powder keg.

Sir Neville, first saw Sir Robert Vansittart, diplomatic adviser to the government, then Lord Halifax. Later he conferred with the Prime Minister, Lord Halifax and Sir John Simon at 10 Downing Street in a miniature cabinet session, a prelude to tomorrow's meeting. He is likely to return to Berlin Wednesday, although this is indefinite.

The British government still was hopeful today of a peaceful solution of Czechoslovak problems. To this end, it was focusing every resource on removing outside interference so Viscount Runciman, unofficial British mediator in the minorities' dispute, can bring the Czechs and Sudeten Germans together in a spirit of compromise.

PRESS CAMPAIGN

The two major sources of outside pressure are Germany's mobilized army of 1,000,000 men and the violent anti-Czech press campaign in Germany.

The Prime Minister returned to London during the morning. He smiled at crowds which cheered him on the way to Downing Street. In nearby Whitehall government offices were active.

Lord Halifax called Jan Masaryk, Czech minister, to the Foreign Office after Sir Neville Henderson had arrived there to report.

Vancouver Sees Three Destroyers

VANCOUVER (CP)—The fleetest destroyer of the United States navy, the McCall, left here today for Honolulu and Tahiti, continuing her maiden test voyage for both ship and crew. She had spent several days on an informal visit here, arriving last Wednesday.

The Canadian destroyers Fraser and St. Laurent are in port here. Officers and men of the two ships took part in a parade and celebration at the opening of the Canada Pacific Exhibition today.

Cholera at Tientsin

TOKIO (CP-Havas)—The serious cholera epidemic in north and central China has spread to the Japanese-controlled city of Tientsin, dispatches reported today.

Anti-cholera sanitary squads, with enough vaccine to inoculate 1,500,000 people, are fighting the epidemic in Beijing, Shanghai, Tientsin, and other cities.

MORE SAFEGUARDS FOR ISLAND FLIGHTS

Inquiry Report on Loss of Zeballos Plane Says Weather Reports Lacking

OTTAWA (CP)—Failure of the operating company to observe certain precautions was held to be a contributory cause of the loss of a passenger airplane and its four occupants on a flight from Vancouver to Zeballos, Vancouver Island, last May, in the report of a Transport Department inquiry board made public here today.

On May 27 last a Fairchild plane flown by Pilot L. G. Waagen, with three passengers, disappeared, leaving no trace, between the mainland city and the west coast of Vancouver Island. There were no eyewitnesses. The wreckage has not been discovered.

While it has been impossible to establish the direct cause of the accident, the finding of the inquiry was that "contributory causes were failure of the company to organize a proper system of weather reporting on this route, to check the load carried and to check the experience of the pilot on this particular type of aircraft."

Mrs. George Nicholson, wife of the postmaster at Zeballos, was one of the passengers who were lost.

Hon. Charles Stewart Coming to B.C.

EDMONTON (CP)—Bound for the Kootenay River in British Columbia to make an inspection of flood damage this summer, Hon. Charles Stewart, Canadian chairman of the International Joint Commission, is a visitor here.

The former federal minister of the interior and former Premier of Alberta spending today and tomorrow here, said he had no business here. He was "seeing friends."

The Kootenay River flows through southern British Columbia and crosses the border into Montana and Idaho. Thus flood damage becomes a matter for the International Commission, Mr. Stewart said.

Reich May Hear New Warning

By JAMES RESTON

Associated Press Staff Writer LONDON—The British ambassador to Germany, Sir Neville Henderson, handed to Premier Chamberlain today a personal report on Berlin's present attitude and intentions in the increasingly dangerous Czechoslovak minorities dispute.

Officials in Berlin privately already have shown dislike for Sir John's speech at Lanark, Scotland, Saturday, in which warning was given that a conflict might be limited at the start but could spread like fire in a high wind.

Should Sir Neville's report be that he believes Chancellor Hitler is preparing for a quick war to add the 3,500,000 Sudeten Germans, in his self-assumed role of protector of Germans everywhere, political commentators here thought the cabinet, called to meet tomorrow, likely would authorize a new, sharp warning.

The cabinet might make plain in that event, some predicted, that Great Britain would fight. But if Sir Neville thinks war is not in prospect, said the commentators, Mr. Chamberlain might send only a personal message to the German Fuehrer asking him to preserve peace.

RUNCIMAN'S EFFORTS Viscount Runciman, meanwhile, pursued his unofficial mediation efforts in Czechoslovakia. He talked for two hours Sunday with the Sudeten leader, Konrad Henlein.

Germany will have 1,000,000 men under arms next week in gigantic autumn manoeuvres for which current army games have been a prelude. For the first time since the Great War, reserve units will join in the manoeuvres.

Meanwhile, there may be two weeks of waiting before Germany's intentions will be known publicly.

Diplomatic circles here expected Chancellor Hitler to answer British warnings in a speech on foreign policy during the Nazi Party annual rally in Nuremberg, which will open September 6—the same day the British fleet is to steam to North Sea bases.

The Times' (Independent) interpretation of tomorrow's cabinet gathering was that it was: "To consider why the new note of stridency should be making itself heard universally in German criticisms of Praha, and to consider why an element of intransigence should have become evident in the attitude of the Sudeten Germans, just when a new basis of negotiation with the minorities is being proposed."

Nazi Move to End Church Denied

BERLIN (AP)—A propaganda ministry spokesman today branded as "nonsense" charges made by Germany's Roman Catholic hierarchy in a pastoral letter that efforts were being made in Germany to destroy the church.

"All one has to do is to compare what the German state has done for the Catholic Church," the spokesman said. "The government is paying millions of marks annually to the church, and the fact that the reading of the letter was possible clearly demonstrates there can be no talk about persecution."

Answering the bishops' charge that "unparalleled, ugly, concentric attacks and outrages" were used against Bishop Johann Spröhl, expelled from Wurttemberg last Thursday, the spokesman said the Nazis had acted solely to protect the bishop.

"Spröhl, who was a German citizen, violated one of the fundamental principles of German citizenship by not participating in the April 10 plebiscite (on union of Austria with Germany), he declared. "This naturally led to demonstrations against the bishop. To prevent the anti-Spröhl tendency from gaining greater momentum, the authorities were forced to expel the bishop from Wurttemberg."

The letter, formulated at a recent conference of bishops at Fulda, was read from pulpits yesterday. It charged the intention existed to crowd out of the public eye everything conformable to confession of faith.

"The fate of the catacombs is intended for us," it said, "which is meant to be the beginning of the end."

The bishops recalled the church had outlasted all strife for 2,000 years and prophesied it would endure.

They appealed for cessation of the "battle against Christendom, because this very strife is causing a deep rift among the German people."

B.C. Lumber Established

Scotland and England Will Build More Wooden Houses

British timber importers who arrived in Victoria Sunday brought a threefold message of good cheer for the expansion of the British market for B.C. timber—a market that has been built up with such rapidity in the last six years that Britain is now the province's chief overseas customer for lumber.

First was that the Scottish housing program means an increasing use of B.C. red cedar, disposal of which is one of the problems of the industry. Second was that British Columbia has now established itself in the British market and should be able to compete with the world. Third was that the timber supply here seems inexhaustible for holding the market.

LEADER SPEAKS

Mr. Tetsall, who pioneered the erection of demonstration houses of lumber in Britain, said B.C. cedar was being more extensively used now than the Scottish housing scheme was under way. The English housing plan had passed the peak, he pointed out, although there was still considerable slum clearance to do.

He said British Columbia need not worry about the possibility of losing the British market for lumber as a result of tariff revision. No one knew what would happen, he said, but the possibility of a change in the preference must be faced.

"But such an eventuality should not alarm you," he said. "British Columbia lumber has established itself in the British market. Our trade with you is no longer in the experimental stage. The British buyers, architects and builders are already convinced of the high quality of B.C. lumber and of the ability of your mills and shipping companies to give satisfactory service."

Mr. Tetsall expressed the public appreciation of the party for the welcome and hospitality they had received and added: "I'd like this opportunity of paying tribute to the work of Mr. McAdam and his staff for the competent manner in which they have handled our trip."

EX-OFFICER BEATEN

The kidnapping and beating of Baker, former coast guard officer, were reported 10 days ago. The first death threats against Ted, 12, and Janet six, Baker's children, were contained in a letter affixed to a rock and hurled through a window into the Baker home Saturday.

The note warned Baker to "forget" the charges against Dr. Berry.

U.S.-Japanese Yangtze Dispute

HONGKONG (AP)—A serious dispute over the rights of a United States gunboat in China waters under Japanese control was reported Monday from Kiang, 135 miles down the Yangtze River from Hankow, by authoritative sources.

The dispute concerned the gunboat Monocacy, which was shaken and showered with water, but not damaged by the explosion of two mines 80 yards from the gunboat's anchorage at Kiang on Saturday.

A protest by Lieut. C. V. Conlan, a reliable informant said, was rejected by the Japanese vice-consul, who in effect contended foreign warships were in battle areas at their own risk.

Lieut. Conlan was understood to have countered he was holding the Japanese responsible for any mishap resulting from Japanese operations, or from mine explosions, especially since the Nippon navy was sweeping the river continuously.

The Japanese were said to have refused to permit the Monocacy to proceed down river to Shanghai, and it was understood the Kiangling vice-consul suggested foreign warships at Hankow proceed up river.

INDUSTRY IMPRESSES

Norman French, editor of the British Timber Trades Journal, said the chief impressions of the party were the hospitality of the people in the province and the wide range of industrial activity.

"It is on such a scale as to surprise many of us," he said. "The lumbering machinery has staggered some of us by its ingenuity."

"Every one of us is looking forward to seeing the high-level system and other phases of the logging operations. I think, in one way, that will be the high spot of the trip."

Mr. French said the individualism in different designs of wooden houses here had struck the party forcibly. There seemed an extraordinary range to men who were used to seeing perhaps 600 or 800 brick houses of the same type go up together.

"It must have given you a wide knowledge of timber construction," he said. In Britain, through the work of the Timber Development Association, timber houses were coming in gradually. Demonstration homes had been erected in widely separated spots, but at present the only commercial venture of any size was in Scotland. Thanks largely to the work of the association of the B.C. timber trade extension interests, resistance to wooden

Budge-Mako Are Champs

Defeat Quist and Bromwich in Three Sets for U.S. Tennis Crown

BROOKLINE, Mass.—(Its stock soaring as a result of the one-sided victory of Don Budge and Gene Mako in the national doubles championship, the United States Davis Cup team yesterday moved on to Philadelphia for final practice in defence of the cup against Australia next week-end.

Tennis observers agreed the feat of holding the Aussie's Adrian Quist and John Bromwich to a mere six games in three sets—the score being 6-3, 6-2, 6-1—strongly presaged a United States victory in the cup final, with Budge winning both his singles and then pairing with Mako to repeat Saturday's doubles triumph.

Harry Hopman, captain of the Australian team, said:

"Undoubtedly Quist and Bromwich were off their games, but the Americans were very good themselves. In spite of our defeat, I still think the series for the Davis Cup will be extremely close, and that we have an excellent chance to win."

Alice Marble and Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fabry retained their United States women's doubles crown by defeating Mme. Rene Mathieu of France and Jadwiga Jedzejowska of Poland, 6-8, 6-4, 6-3.

Miss Marble and Budge became mixed double champions as they defeated Thelma Coyne and Bromwich of Australia, 6-1, 6-2.

Californians Regatta Stars

HARRISON LAKE, B.C. (CP)—California's outboard racing drivers dominated the Harrison Lake outboard regatta that ended here yesterday as they won all but two titles in the two-day national and Pacific Coast divisional meet.

The only drivers to break the hold of the Californians on the Pacific Coast and national titles were Pat Cummins, Everett, Wash., who nosed out Charlie Tabucci of San Francisco in the class C professional hydroplanes; Ope Howard, also of Everett, who won both heats in the class A hydroplanes, amateur division, and Val Plue of Portland, Ore., who won the class C hydroplane, Pacific Coast divisional title.

Tabucci, however, retained his national title for professional drivers of class C racing runabouts when he drove his "Foolin'" to first and second in the two heats of the division. Tabucci stood off the challenge of Bill Barry of Walnut Grove, Calif., who won the second heat and placed second in the standings. Cummins, northwest hope, made a determined bid, but spilled on a turn when fighting Tabucci for the lead.

Ward Angille, defeated in the class C hydroplane, Pacific Coast divisional championship, came back to win the national amateur class C racing runabout title. Dwe Franke of Fresno, Calif., won the national racing runabout amateur championship with Helene Fluhrer of Medford, Ore., for the lead.

In the Haifa sector five trucks carrying fruit and vegetables to Jaffa and Tel Aviv were destroyed and two drivers were wounded.

Police Work Hard And Rescue Cat

NEW YORK (AP)—A prowling cat fell into a drainpipe atop a five-story apartment house, but didn't lose a single life.

It agonizing yowls brought police and agents of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. They began removing sections of the drainpipe at the fourth floor.

They ripped out the pipe all the way to the basement. The howls continued. The rescuers, after five hours of toil, tore out a concrete stairway and finally found the cat wedged in an elbow of the pipe five feet underground. It scampered away unhurt—and ungrateful.

Wheat Agreement Declared Needed

LONDON (CP)—Agreement is necessary among exporting countries if a solution to the wheat problem is to be found, says the Financial News today in an editorial commenting on the prospects of a large world wheat surplus.

"There are but two alternatives if there is to be any sharp and prolonged recovery in wheat prices—we are excluding the possibility of a major war," the editorial said.

"There must be either another series of crop failures or the principal exporting countries must reach some agreement. . . . There is no doubt which is the right course, and there is no doubt it will come to agreement in time."

Patient Pulled Off High Ledge

NEW YORK (AP)—A patient identified by Bellevue Hospital authorities as William Ahearn, 35, a mental case, was pulled from an eighth floor ledge back into the safety of the hospital late today, after an hour of antics, during which he threatened to jump to the pavement below. Curious crowds gathered in the streets.

FIRST UNITED WINS In an interclub tennis match played yesterday at Langford the visiting First United players scored an 11 to 5 victory. The winners took three of the women's doubles, a like number of the men's and five of the eight mixed.

Permanent Forces Manoeuvre Over Wide Area South of Camp Borden, Using Tanks and Planes

By CAPT. W. W. Murray, M.C. Canadian Press Staff Writer

CAMP BORDEN, Ont.—Engaged over a wide area extending more than 40 miles south of Camp Borden, field manoeuvres involving practically all the permanent force troops under canvas here began early today. Nearly 1,500 participated.

In midweek, the present units will be reinforced by two Toronto regiments from the permanent militia. The manoeuvres will round off three weeks' training. The aim is to practice the movement of a partly mechanized force, operating in hostile territory under the constant menace of aerial attack.

The "plot" assumes that some where northwest of Toronto the main body of the "northland" force is actively engaged with the main body of the "southland" force. Need arose to dispatch troops to the northlanders, and by 5 o'clock this morning one infantry brigade, a regiment of cavalry, some artillery and engineers were en route.

Several things are going to happen to the northlanders, but when or where they do happen is not known. What is certain is that the southland army during the past week has been harassing northland's lines of communication. These annoyances have taken the form of hit-and-run attacks by swift moving tanks, but chiefly by aircraft.

Low-flying airplanes have been making things miserable for the northlanders with machine guns and, in spite of solemn international agreements, with poison gas. The frequency with which these things had taken place gave rise to the belief that attempts would be made today to hand the northlanders a dose of machine-gunning and gassing stiffer than usual.

Once away from their tents and huts at Camp Borden, the troops will not see them again for about a week. The men will bivouac at night in open fields. Battle equipment has been issued on a war service basis.

YOUTH LOSES LIFE

WINNIPEG (CP)—Raymond Perez, 19-year-old St. Boniface youth, was killed instantly today when an automobile in which he and three other youths were riding crashed into a telephone pole in North Winnipeg. His three companions, Jack Copple, 27, driver of the car; Rosario Liberte and Burt Lariviere, 21, were seriously injured.

BREAD PRICES DOWN

CALGARY (CP)—Calgary housewives were buying their bread for a cent less today. Geo. Weir, secretary of the Alberta Master Bakers' Association, stated the drop was in line with the usual policy followed by Calgary bakers when flour prices are sufficiently reduced. The price of flour had dropped $2 per barrel, making possible the reduction in the price of bread, Mr. Weir said.

Price delivered to the home now is nine cents per loaf and purchased at the stores eight cents.

It requires a reduction of $2 per barrel in the price of flour to effect a reduction of a cent per loaf, Mr. Weir pointed out.

Support for Alaska Highway

SEATTLE (AP)—Senator James Hamilton Lewis came back to Seattle yesterday with this observation:

"The Alaska highway would be a vital link in national defence in the event of a war with Asiatic powers."

The Illinois statesman, who twice represented Washington State in Congress at the turn of the century, is a strong supporter of construction of the Seattle-Alaska Highway through British Columbia.

"Alaska, from the western tip of the Aleutian Islands, is only 16 miles from Siberia," he pointed out. "It would be the first point of attack in case of conflict with Russia, for the Russians have never regarded Alaska as belonging to the United States."

"Their people have been led to believe they were 'sold out' when Alaska was sold to the United States, that the people who negotiated the deal with Seward kept the money for themselves and that the United States possession of all that great wealth in the north is nothing more than a steal."

He said he believed the time was coming when the Orientals, Chinese or Japanese, would join with Russia in demanding the United States abrogate its present exclusion policy.

He regards war with an Asiatic power not only possible but inevitable.

Senator Lewis is here on a business trip.

Hard-of-Hearing Session Closes

Feeling of International Goodwill Felt Throughout Two-day Conference

A feeling of international goodwill marked the two-day conference of the hard-of-hearing organizations of the Pacific Coast, which closed on Saturday night with a social reunion banquet at Empress Hotel grill.

In addition to the 37 Victoria League of the Hard-of-Hearing delegates present, there were 22 from Seattle, 19 from Vancouver and smaller groups from Portland, Centralia, St. Louis, Mo., Tacoma, Spokane, Wenatchee, Berkeley, Cal., and one visitor from England.

The closing social began with a banquet, at which each person had the use of a separate hearing aid with individual tuning controls.

G. Ward Kemp, president of the Seattle league, was toastmaster. A joint toast was proposed to "The King and the President of the United States."

"To the Canadian Federation," proposed by Mrs. E. S. Hamilton of Portland, and responded to by Mrs. L. M. Godard, vice-president of the western region of the Canadian Federation of lip reading organizations, and "To the American Society," proposed by F. L. Shaw, vice-president of the Victoria Hard-of-Hearing League, and responded to by G. Ward Kemp, Seattle.

The main address of the evening was made by Frederick M. Duckles, member of the board of managers and formerly vice-president of the Pacific zone of the American Hard-of-Hearing Society, who used as his subject, "Pulling Together."

K. T. Hughes read a report of the resolutions committee, this being the only matter of business routine at the function.

The entertainment included numbers by Miss Patsy Swift, soprano, accompanied by Mrs. Beatrice Stone, and Pierre Timp, baritone, accompanied by Mrs. Timp. Miss Vivian Combe, comedienne, concluded the entertainment.

DISCUSSIONS HELD

During the day, numerous discussion periods were held with subjects pertaining to hard-of-hearing. In the morning Miss Minnie M. Johnson, Seattle lip reading instructor, spoke on "The History of Lip Reading," and Miss M. Esther Morris, Vancouver lip reading instructor, spoke on "The Value of Lip Reading."

Mrs. Gordon Lennox, president of the Vancouver league, was in the chair. Following this session, Raymond L. Meserve, Tacoma, and H. G. Hinton, Victoria, spoke on "Hearing Aids, Their Value and How to Avoid Fakes." The final morning discussion was conducted by Mrs. William A. Wilson, Vancouver, and Mrs. Isabel McLaren, Seattle, with the subject, "What is Being Done and Should be Done, or Hard-of-Hearing Children."

The afternoon meetings were presided over by Raymond L. Meserve, president of the Tacoma league. "Rehabilitation of Hard-of-Hearing Adults," was the subject of the first discussion conducted by Mrs. Mildred Stumpf, Spokane, lip reading instructor, and Miss Rita Carveth, Victoria. Mrs. E. S. Hamilton, Portland, and Miss Jessie L. Bunn, Vancouver, spoke on "Publicity, Its Value and How to Obtain Same."

The final session in the afternoon took in papers from each league represented at the conference. The subject was, "How to Finance Clubs and Leagues."

The city officials are paying about $8,000 a month to the Esquimalt Waterworks Company for the purchase of water from Goldstream, judged on the basis of last month. It is estimated by a prominent city official that the yearly cost will run to $90,000.

Arrangements are being made to hold a dedication and thanksgiving service on the last Sunday in September in the church of St. Mary's, Oak Bay, additions to which are being made.

Polo matches for the exhibition have been arranged with the Victoria Polo Club for Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday of the exhibition week. The local club will have visits from Duncan and other provincial teams, and it is expected the matches will prove a great attraction.

HIT-AND-RUN DRIVING CHECKED

Detroit's Methods Reported to International Police Congress at Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—A solution of the hit-and-run driver problem was placed before the International Police Congress here in a paper today by Police Superintendent Fred W. Frahm of Detroit.

Detroit's methods have been so successful "we have just about convinced the average driver it is useless to run away," the superintendent declared.

Frahm sketched factors in the Detroit plan. A state and civil law requiring garagemen to report repairing cars bearing evidence of an accident solved four fatal hit and run accidents. Twenty radio-equipped cars enable police to arrive at an accident scene in two minutes after receiving the report, enabling police to get witnesses, pieces of the missing car and early leads.

If the car is not located immediately, police check city garages for repairs, manufacturers for identification of any wreckage left, even glass, canvass house-holders or eye-witnesses and check the scene of the accident for three months, because motorists usually travel fixed routes.

"Effectiveness of such a program over a period of years has a definite bearing on the number of such cases," Frahm said. "In the past two months we have cleared 78.8 per cent of all the hit-and-run cases reported to us."

Fewer Traffic Deaths in U.S.

CHICAGO (AP)—The National Safety Council reported today the United States was well on its way toward a lower traffic death toll for 1938, with an estimated 4,250 lives saved during the first seven months of the year.

The decrease was 21 per cent compared with the same period of 1937, and the number of fatalities—16,030—was the lowest since 1932.

This record was achieved, the council said, despite an increase of 4 per cent in highway travel during the first six months of 1938 over the same period last year. Mileage figures for July were not yet available.

The improvement was nationwide with 39 states and 397 cities in every section bettering their traffic safety records for the seven months.

Reporting a 21 per cent drop in motor fatalities for July with its "traditional hush" of an Independence Day holiday, the council estimated 730 lives had been saved during this month alone, compared with July of 1937, when 3,470 deaths were reported.

The July record meant, the council asserted, "that for nine consecutive months—beginning

A fatal hit-and-run case has not been reported to my department since March 22."

Our Visiting Timber Buyers

VICTORIA TODAY IS EXTENDING A warm welcome to a party of British and French timber importers. The people of the province as a whole are glad these keen businessmen from across the sea have come to British Columbia to see for themselves just what we want to sell them in increasing quantity from year to year. While personal contact with our forest industry may be a new experience to many members of the party, it will be understood, of course, that the concerns with which they are associated in the Old Land have been in the timber-buying business for hundreds of years. It is only in comparatively recent times that this province's softwoods have successfully invaded the large market of the United Kingdom. Initiative born of necessity has brought satisfactory returns to our exporters, and there is no reason at all why this increased selling field should not be expanded, always provided, of course, there shall be a wider demand for the type of product with which British Columbia has shown she is able to compete successfully. It is all a matter of salesmanship and determination to supply exactly what is wanted, when it is wanted, and at the price the importer is willing to pay.

The latest figures available show that Great Britain and Eire imported in 1937 sawn and planed softwoods from Canada to the extent of 491,000,000 feet board measurement—this out of a total year's purchase of 5,167,000,000 feet. The Canadian sale was more than double that of 1912, 38,000,000 feet more than in 1936, and the prospects are bright for a still greater turnover this year. Our exporters, of course, are well aware that Finland, Russia, Sweden and Poland have a footing in the British market which Nature protects. Proximity gives them an ironclad advantage, supported by the operation of an inexorable economic law, against which sentiment, as expressed in terms of tariff preference, is not allowed to prevail unduly. Between them these four countries supplied the United Kingdom with more than one-third of her timber requirements in 1937, Finland leading the way with 584,000,000 feet, with Russia 496,000,000, Sweden 465,000,000 and Poland 228,000,000. Compared with 1936, however, Soviet Russia was the only country to show a gain, which amounted to 22,000,000 feet. So it is now up to our salesmen to convince our visitors that it will pay them to buy more British Columbia lumber.

More Alarms

OFFICIAL BRITAIN TODAY IS A little more worried than usual about developments between the German Reich and the minorities question in Czechoslovakia. Prime Minister Chamberlain again has interrupted his holiday to hurry to London to receive a personal report from Sir Neville Henderson, British Ambassador to Germany, on the gravity of the situation generally and, presumably, on the reaction in Berlin to Sir John Simon's pronouncement at Lanark on Saturday. All the cabinet members holding key portfolios—excepting Lord Stanley, who is now on a visit to Canada—are remaining within call for consultation tomorrow.

The Chancellor of the Exchequer's speech in Scotland gave Germany time over the weekend to consider anew the plain intimation that if France should be called upon to discharge her obligations to Czechoslovakia, by helping that war-born republic to defend herself against an unwarranted onslaught by Reichsfuehrer Hitler's mobilized legions, Great Britain would be certain to stand by her old ally and honor her pledges. Such a prospect is not a pleasant one for the British people. It is disturbing to the general equilibrium of the whole world. But totalitarianism of the Nazi-Fascist variety cannot be permitted much longer to foment sinister influences to satisfy personal vanities and lust for power without a pointed reminder of the consequences.

It should be noted, incidentally, that Sir Neville Henderson has been in the British diplomatic service for more than 30 years and has earned a reputation for plain speech—within, of course, traditional limits. Although only an inkling of his message to the Prime Minister is contained in today's dispatches, he apparently thought it of sufficient importance to journey from Berlin to London by airplane, and the ministerial view is reflected in the call for tomorrow's cabinet meeting. In its reference to this gathering The Times (London) says it:

"To consider why the new note of stringency should be making itself heard universally in German criticisms of Prague and to consider why an element of intransigence should have become evident in the attitude of the Sudeten Germans, just when a new basis of negotiation with the minorities is being proposed."

The general feeling in many capitals naturally will be that Reichsfuehrer Hitler's program—as outlined in Mein Kampf—would be seriously interfered with if a peaceful settlement of the Sudeten German problem should be reached. But the point which is irritating the head of the Nazi state is the uncertainty of what would be the result of a violation by force of arms of Czechoslovakian territorial integrity. Britain may make it much clearer to him after tomorrow's ministerial session.

Racing River of Gold

ONE WAY TO KNOW WHETHER Japan will finally whip China is to follow the troop movements as reported in the daily papers. Another way is to keep an eye on the gold movement.

Armies move to the accompaniment of crashing guns, and go to the field of action with a certain amount of fanfare and drum-beating, even in this day of mechanized fighting. Gold moves quietly, like a thief in the night, and only a few people bother to trace its course as recorded on the financial pages. But in the end it can be the more important of the two.

Not long ago John T. Flynn noted the heavy drain of gold Japan has been suffering recently, and pointed out that in 15 months the country had been obliged to send $346,000,000 of gold to the United States. A little later a New York Times writer remarked that the figure had risen to $352,000,000.

These figures can mean but one thing: That Japan is going broke at a rapid pace. The best estimates have it that her gold reserve now is no higher than $261,000,000. Her foreign markets are steadily dwindling; meanwhile the tremendously expensive war in China forces her to keep on buying goods abroad—cotton, oil, iron, munitions, and so on. She can no longer pay for these goods with her own exports. The gold supply with which she can pay is fast vanishing.

Which means, obviously, that Japan's fate rests on the outcome of a race between her armies and her gold supply. If the armies can win a complete and final victory before bankruptcy arrives, well and good; if they cannot, Japan faces utter ruin.

All of this, of course, emphasizes an important little fact which we sometimes forget. Despite all of the "controls" to which most great governments have resorted in the field of economics, it does seem to be true that there are a few fundamental economic laws that in the long run must be obeyed. The oldest, simplest, and most often forgotten of them all would seem to be, simply, that if we spend beyond our income, and keep on doing it long enough, we end in a disaster.

There are many kinds of expedients by which the evil day can be postponed; of course. Some of them work beautifully—for a time. But the reckoning has to be paid sooner or later.

Napoleonic Treasure

THE SHIP'S BELL IN LLOYDS OF London, rung once for bad news from the sea, and twice for good, rang two brisk notes the other day and brokers learned that gold had been recovered from the frigate Lutine, at the bottom of the North Sea.

The Lutine sank in 1799, bound from England with $2,500,000 worth of gold aboard. The gold was to have gone to the aid of British soldiers fighting Napoleon. Men have been seeking that gold for nearly a century and a half.

Since the Lutine went to the bottom there have been other treasures accumulating in this world, close at hand, but they might as well have lain with the sunken frigate's gold for all that has been done with them. The treasures of the mind, the gold coin of the thought of more than a century, has been piling up, and now—

The gold of great nations still moves to the support of armies in the field, and at Lloyds when the ship's bell rings a single note the minds awaiting the news by habit hold thoughts of warlike disasters.

Under Hitler's latest decree all German goods, as well as all Germans, are in the army now.

Confusing is that story about the pet-lover who provided his dog with a gold tooth. Now what was the old saying—"All that is barking gold does not bite?"

An explorer recently found a wild spot in Europe completely bare of fortifications, but he will not tell where it is because he wants to keep the place unspoiled.

A GREAT UNDEFENDED FRONTIER

From Toronto Star

Premier King made a fine address at the opening of the Thousand Islands bridge, and in the course of it he gave a vivid picture of the change which has taken place along the Great Lakes and St. Lawrence border since, in the period prior to 1812, "hostile forces frowned at each other from opposite shores and an armament race had begun."

Mr. King pointed out that during the war of 1812 as many as 20 armed vessels were constructed in the naval yards at Kingston, and "one of these, the St. Lawrence, was actually larger in size and carried more guns than Nelson's Victory at the battle of Trafalgar."

But within three years of the conclusion of the war, the two nations had arrived at the Rush-Bagot agreement which restricted armament on the Great Lakes, St. Lawrence and Lake Champlain to six armed vessels, weighing not more than 100 tons, and mounting one 18-pounder apiece. While the agreement was limited in scope to the waters mentioned, the result of it was that the whole frontier from ocean to ocean has become an unarmed border, with ready access from one country to the other by road and bridge, and, as the Premier put it, "there is indeed no more striking symbol of unity, of intercourse and of friendship than a bridge."

Certainly that is the significance of the many bridges by which Canadian tourists enter the United States and United States tourists enter Canada. In Mr. King's concluding words: "I think I speak the mind of both countries when I say that, not only are we determined to preserve the neighborly relations, and the free ways of life, which are our priceless heritage, but that we earnestly wish to see them become a part of the common heritage of mankind. To that end, we are prepared to go on building bridges, to throw the span of friendship and of freedom across the troubled waters of our time."

A Time to Speak

By NELLIE MCCLUNG

THIS IS AN AGE OF DOUBT!

Nothing gets by without questioning. In a recent issue of the Winnipeg Free Press there appeared an article entitled "Why Victoria?" in which the writer, one C. E. Valentine, raised doubts regarding Lantern Lane. He says he came out to see it with expectation. It had an attractive sound to him. He believed it would be a lovely wooded estate. But he found the grass dry, and the house standing in a bare field. He had seen Saskatchewan farms with more trees, etc. That is not so bad. I have seen Saskatchewan farms with beautiful trees, lawns and shrubs, and I do not mind Mr. Valentine's comparison. He cannot hurt my feelings by quoting Saskatchewan. I like Saskatchewan.

Anyway I do not expect him to see Lantern Lane as I see it. He did not go on his knees on a piece of matting three years ago and dig out twitch grass to put in his onions. He did not carry pails of water in the purple twilight of the June evenings to the little nut trees, nor make a ditch to irrigate the pepper plants. Nor did he put in the asparagus seed and see it pass its preliminary stages, and come into bearing this summer. He has not eaten any of its thick, purple, tender stalks. He has not sprayed the trees, nor rose bushes (he will note that I still insist we have trees), nor set traps for the earwigs. He probably does not know what engaging little things the earwigs are, nor how interesting it is to roll up newspapers and put them in the crotch of a tree at night and then go out on the trap lines at dawn when the rosy glow is warming the eastern sky, and see what the night has brought. Perhaps he won't believe it when I say the earwigs prefer an old yellow newspaper to a fresh one, but they do, with a decided preference for the Family Herald and Weekly Star.

He probably does not know it is the thing you work for that becomes precious. But that is the old law of compensation.

No, Mr. Valentine has seen Lantern Lane with the cold eye of a tourist, a critical, show-me tourist.

I KNOW EXACTLY what happened! He went first to see Col. McMullen's beautiful estate overlooking the straits, with its rockeries, pools, flowering shrubs, acres of lawn as smooth as velvet; its rose arbors and ornamental low stone wall over which a Virginia creeper, green turning to pink, runs in fans. And then perhaps he went down the hill to see Mr. Hunter Gordon's exquisite Japanese garden, with its dwarf evergreens, lily pond, azaleas and Russell lupins.

Then he came over and looked at Lantern Lane, with its easy, impressionistic horticulture, and his eye fell on a field where the tulips had died down. There was a vacant slope before him (it is all planted in gladioli this year and is now a blaze of color, but of course he could not foresee that). So he said the house stood in a bare field. Fields naturally have to be bare sometime. What does he expect? Victoria is green all winter and most of the summer, but it does close down at one season of the year. And, not knowing that Mr. Valentine was going to come at that very low moment, we just let the stalks die down and the processes of nature go on as usual.

But we cannot let him away with the suggestion that we are short of trees. A great wall of evergreens shelter us from the north—they are not ours, but what of that? Cherry trees border the lane, but they must have been merely bare trees when Mr. Valentine saw them. Perhaps he did not recognize them as cherries and saw only their twisted branches. He would not know that the row of trees which stand in front of the garage are apple trees, with one pear and a few walnuts, all of which bear fruit after their kind and in their season, too.

MR. VALENTINE would not know how closely knit we are here. He would not see Mr. Edwards's strawberry field just beside us—or Mrs. Carr's loganberries, or Miss Towler's raspberries, over which we have "running rights"—not by any dark-of-the-moon arrangement, either, but by the goodwill of the owner. He probably did not notice Mr. Lester's 500 White Leghorns dotting the meadow below the hill, or know that Mr. Lester goes fishing sometimes and divides his catch among the neighbors. He wouldn't know that the red house set in the evergreens, which looks like the "House in the Dormer Forest" is the home of the Padon family, where one can hear the "Moonlight Sonata" or Chopin preludes any Friday evening.

Or wouldn't know that there is a fine circulation of books and magazines every month from Mr. Aldous and Mrs. Caron get their supply from England, and Miss Olive and Miss Panesta Staveley get theirs from Ireland, and Inez and Yrma Mitchell get theirs from the Book Club.

And always there is good talk, and a conversational exchange that is stimulating and pleasant. He would not know about the little oak tree which came from Great Windsor Park, and which was planted by Nancy Ley on her 10th birthday; nor the Vagabond Prince and Shirley Temple and Maid of Orleans gladioli that will deck the hillside.

I AM WRITING ALL THIS in deference to the letters I have been receiving from readers who are wondering if I am merely a fiction writer. They are disturbed by Mr. Valentine's strictures on Lantern Lane. One man enclosed Mr. Valentine's story and merely wrote these words on the margin: "Speak up, Nellie!"

When I showed some of the correspondence I received on this subject to the neighbors, they offered to make an independent audit of the trees and shrubs, but after some discussion we decided against it. After all, what does it matter about the number of trees?

If Mr. Valentine comes again (and he seems to hold out some hope that he may), we will show him the ant hill, and the Flinders poppies, and let him listen to the drowsy murmur of the quail under the lavender, and we'll give him a setting of onions. That will convince him Lantern Lane is an attractive place.

Philpott Warns

Liberal Against

Over-confidence

By ELMORE PHILPOTT

ORDINARY reports of gatherings like the Kelowna Liberal Convention slip up on little things and leave out larger matters altogether. No mention was made of the gracious little speech of Mrs. Stuart Henderson, in the flower presentation ceremony, following the Victoria lady's election as women's vice-president. Alfred Dodson of Saanich had his speech attributed to somebody else. It was a good one, too.

In the larger sphere it seems to me that someone should ask: What does all this mean? What does it all add up to?

I CAME home from the convention convinced that in some respects all conventions are alike and all parties are the same—C.C.F., Communist, Social Credit, as well as Liberal and Conservative. At Kelowna Premier Pattullo was certainly the boss, and nobody, not even Mr. Pattullo himself, bothered to conceal the fact. Yet I have studied Mackenzie King in action for a long time, and am convinced that he exercises almost as effective control over his federal party, except that his technique of management is less open.

In fact, in Canadian politics it is time, as one party once said in its slogan, that "your leader is your policy." As long as he is the leader he is the boss, and whether or not followers are in the cabinet, in the legislature, or in the organized party, they must either fall into line reasonably well or find themselves sidetracked into blind alleys.

It would be possible to cite numerous examples to show that in all parties leaders have reversed official party policies. At the Conservative convention which chose Mr. Bennett leader one plank was opposition to the St. Lawrence waterway, as an international project. Two years later Mr. Bennett turned right about face in this matter and there was no audible protest.

When Mr. Hepburn was chosen leader the first plank adopted by the Ontario convention was support for the St. Lawrence scheme. Later Mr. Hepburn did just what Mr. Bennett had done, only the other way round. And the Grits, like the Tories, fell into line. So with the Social Credit party in Alberta. So with the C.C.F. So with the Communists. Stalin today is doing things the Communists fought for decades.

I CARRIED home two other impressions. One was that, in B.C., as elsewhere, there is an increasing tendency for provincial gatherings to confine their discussions to matters entirely within the jurisdiction of the province. Yet the political bodies concerned deal both with federal and provincial elections, and pick candidates for both Houses.

National gatherings of the old-line parties are really held only when a new leader is to be chosen. Hence the result of the increasing exclusiveness in provincial political conventions is that the rank and file members of the party have less and less voice in influencing national policies—which, in the last analysis, are the most important.

MY FINAL impression was that the Kelowna gathering was the B.C. Liberals are dangerously over-confident. They all agree that they will be in power for a very long time to come. They think the C.C.F. is a localized, Vancouver threat, and that the Conservatives won't get anywhere.

I remember that the Ontario Tories used to talk that way after they piled up their record-breaking majority of 1929. Yet even in the next election they were badly beaten. I have watched parties in action for a long time, and am convinced that they never slip so fast as when they have come to believe that they never will slip.

If the C.C.F. could induce M. J. Coldwell, M.P., who is living this summer on Vancouver Island, to accept the B.C. leadership the third party picture might change very fast.

And if the Conservatives elect any kind of an aggressive leader next month at Kamloops, they have at least as good a start as Mitchell Hepburn had in Ontario in 1930.

LITTLE THEATRE SEASON

To the Editor:—The directors of the Little Theatre Association desire to convey through your columns a most hearty invitation to any of your readers who may be interested to join the association for the ensuing year.

Plans are now well advanced for the purchase of our present rooms on Rockland Avenue, where we will have a well-equipped theatre and workshop. Carefully planned improvements will be carried out, and we believe that in a few years we will have one of the finest Little Theatres in Canada.

Plans for the coming season are well in hand and call for at least three major productions and seven or eight monthly performances in our own theatre. In addition to those who desire to take an active interest only in acting, there are openings for those who would like to learn production and backstage work, which includes making of scenery, painting, lighting, etc.

In addition to the above there are a large number of valued members who show their interest in the work by joining our association as nonactive members and only attend our monthly meetings.

Monthly meetings are devoted almost entirely to drama, music and other social activities. A hearty welcome awaits anyone wishing to join and names should be sent to the secretary, Miss M. Murray, 132 South Turner St., or to the treasurer, H. J. S. Reynolds, care of the Bank of Montreal.

Director, Victoria Little Theatre Association.

WHAT ABOUT CANADIANS?

To the Editor:—It must be discouraging to our young Canadian boys and girls, our unemployed and our returned soldiers to read so much propaganda favoring the new great immigration scheme from England to our fertile lands in British Columbia.

Why give it away to green immigrants? Why not give it to our own deserving people who should know a great deal more about making it pay than these newcomers? What has been Canada's experience in the past with these schemes? Englishmen have never been noted for being successful Canadian farmers. It is unfair to misrepresent this life to the poor people in England when we realize how many people in the interior, with years of experience, are today finding it hard to make even an existence.

It is a good thing the labor unions are alive, so the situation on Vancouver and Victoria will experience a good deal worse unemployment demonstrations than we saw this summer.

Now that the armament racket is easing up in England the politicians are willing to pay any price to get rid of increasing unemployment in England so Canada had better beware, as it is unfair to the immigrant and to our own people, who surely deserve the first consideration.

Surely Ottawa will know the truth about past experiences.

SORRY TO SEE STREET CARS GO

To the Editor:—According to an item in Saturday's Times, I see that gas buses are predicted for this city. As one who has traveled on the street cars for over 41 years, I shall be very sorry to see them done away with.

To me, this mode of transportation is most efficient; they give a good service, you feel safe in them, and with courteous operators, one could not wish for a more reliable means of travel.

In this, I am voicing the feelings of a good many of the regular patrons of the street cars who I have spoken, too. Yes, I favor the present system of transportation.

B.C.'S FRIEND

Fred H. Goodchild in Vancouver Province

British Columbia's great friend, guide and counsellor in England is on a business holiday visit here. W. A. McAdam, "Bully" to thousands of travelling people from this province, has seen his efforts to further the interests of this province and help visitors to the Old Country reap a rich reward.

He has been doing this job for 15 years; for the last six years as acting agent-general, until he has become British Columbia's tireless and most successful salesman. He has turned B.C. House from a heavy liability into a valuable asset.

Though the "acting" has not yet been lopped off his title, he was given elaborate rank once by an English suburban paper in reporting one of Mr. McAdam's speeches. The paper called him "Secretary to the Governor-General of Vancouver."

During Vancouver's golden jubilee Mr. McAdam was instrumental in having 1,000 photographs of Vancouver and 200 stories covering 11,000 inches printed in 267 English newspapers, at a cost to Vancouver of $250.

REFUNDING ACT APPEAL

To the Editor:—My attention

has been directed to news items in which reference has been made to my failure to file an appeal in my action against the city of Victoria to appeal from the decision of the Court of Appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada against the decision of the former court, which upheld the Victoria City Refunding Act.

When this action was instituted by me at the request of the mayor and trustees, the understanding was that I would permit my name to be used as a nominal plaintiff for the purpose of a test case, that there would be no costs on either side, and that the decision of the Supreme Court of British Columbia would be final. I won the case in the Supreme Court, whereupon the city violated the agreement made with me and filed an appeal to the Court of Appeal. While I was entitled to appeal in the Supreme Court and was awarded these by the trial judge, I adhered to my part of the agreement and did not insist on these and the city observed this part of the agreement in not seeking any costs against me on the appeal.

Being dissatisfied with the way in which I have been treated and believing that there should be an appeal to a higher tribunal to decide definitely whether the Victoria City Refunding Act is valid, I made preparations immediately to take an appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada, and while the time limit for filing the appeal does not expire until the month of October the appeal would have been filed before this date were it not for the fact that my solicitor upon taking the matter up with the city, has been advised that the city in the event of success in the Supreme Court of Canada will look to me for payment of costs. In this litigation I have given my name as already stated at the request of the mayor and trustees and I have gone to some considerable trouble and expense in connection with this case. I feel now that it is unfair to the citizens of Victoria that I should permit the matter to stand without a final decision from the highest court in Canada. The statute is either sound or unsound and so far we have conflicting judgments of the Supreme and Appeal Courts of this province as to its validity.

According to an item reporting the findings of a committee of the Bar Association held in Vancouver it appears that the Victoria City Refunding Act was considered by a special committee composed of well-known legal luminaries from various parts of Canada and they expressed condemnation of this act and suggested that there should be no further extension of this sort of legislation. It is therefore apparent that I have the support of legal opinion in addition to the judgment of the Supreme Court that this statute is still in doubt. Many of the citizens of Victoria are not much interested in this debenture question, but it will be a serious matter if action is taken by any one or more debenture holders at some later date, the result of which might mean that the city would suffer a serious loss financially.

I have obtained financial support in this litigation, which will be costly, from certain public-spirited citizens; but the fact that the city now insists on my being responsible for further costs in the event of my appeal being disallowed I am placed in an entirely different position and I am endeavoring now to obtain the necessary financial support from those debenture holders and others who are affected by or otherwise interested in this litigation so that the burden of carrying this test case to its logical conclusion will not have to be borne by me alone.

The government of the province of British Columbia is also a party to these proceedings, but no costs would be demanded against me by the government in the event of my failure on appeal and I have been advised to this effect by the honorable the Attorney-General. However, the attitude of the city of Victoria is very different from that of the government in that the city has deliberately deceived me in inducing me to take this test case and then subsequently violating the terms of the "gentlemen's agreement" and now continuing to place obstacles in the way of my carrying the matter through to a proper conclusion.

I wish it to be clearly understood that so far as I am concerned in the event of my success on an appeal to the Supreme Court I do not intend to hold the city responsible for costs, provided, of course, the city agrees to the same arrangement so far as I am concerned. I might also add that I have been approached by Mr. Ladore, who has taken to the Privy Council a similar case involving the same points. This case was relied upon specially by counsel for the city, who claimed that it was on all fours with my case against the city of Victoria. I offered, through my solicitor, to accept the decision of the Privy Council in the Ontario case, provided the city would agree, and although counsel for the city relied so strongly on the case before the Appeal Court of British Columbia, he advised me through my solicitor that the circumstances of the two cases were not quite the same and that he could not accept the decision of the Privy Council in that case.

Record Entry For Fall Fair

Greatest Number of Cattle Ever Assembled Coming for Exhibition

A 76-year record has been broken at the Victoria Exhibition. W. H. Means, secretary of the B.C. Agricultural Association, announced yesterday that 401 entries have been received in the cattle section of the fair, which starts on September 10. This is the greatest number on record and does not include some large herds that are being sent for exhibition purposes only.

The record entry is taking the cattle accommodation and Mr. Means has been rearranging things in the cattle barn.

Senator A. D. McRae is sending a herd of Lincoln Red cattle for noncompetitive exhibit.

A new breed of black-faced sheep for which there is no class provided in the fair, also will be exhibited.

Mr. Means stated that there never has been such lively interest in the livestock division from island centres as there has been this year. He attributes this to the encouragement that has been given to good breeding of cattle for the B.C. Agricultural Association and other fairs.

Cattle entries have been received from many mainland farms and other provinces. There will be exhibited in the show 94 head of Jersey cattle, 44 head of Shorthorns, 55 head of Guernseys, 65 head of Ayrshires, 31 head of Herefords, 86 head of Holsteins and 22 head of Aberdeen Angus.

Saanich breeders are well represented this year, particularly in the Jersey, Ayrshire and Holstein classes.

Those entered with cattle are as follows: Jerseys—Hugh Savage, Ian Douglas, A. W. Aylard, W. Gallop, Mrs. G. O. Weiler, Langley Jersey Calf Club, George Wright & Sons, Saanich Jersey Heifer Club, Saanich Jersey Calf Club, W. S. Cook, R. L. Evans, Capt. C. F. Gibson, W. J. Allan and H. E. Burbidge.

Maritime Fishers If Lucky Earn $150 a Year

They Now Want Guaranteed Living Price Like Wheat Growers

This is Article 2 in the series which the Victoria Times Ottawa correspondent is writing on a first-hand investigation which he undertook recently into the human situation in the Maritime provinces for the prevailing protest note in Maritime politics.

By NORMAN MacLEOD

OTTAWA—The cold, grey dawn can be an almost absurdly cheerful hour—providing it is compared with 2:30 a.m.

It is at the latter hour that Councillor Lapierre of Grand Deserf each morning noses his tiny boat through surf crashing on the Nova Scotian shore, wins his way finally to the bottom of the Atlantic and, tossing there like a cork, banishes all thought of danger from his mind because it would interfere with the important business in hand—which is the business of making a precarious living regardless of what ever may be the cost in toil and risk.

There are three partners with Councillor Lapierre in his dory. They share the same risks that he runs. They engage in like toil. They endure the same exposure. They participate in whatever may be his material fortunes.

Material fortunes? Misfortunes would be a more accurate term. For Councillor Lapierre and his associates have been braving the Atlantic every day that tempestuous gales have not prevented them since the first of April last. They have been landing some fair catches, too. But their pursues up to August 1 have been exactly $10 for the four of them—$2.50 each for four months' dangerous toil, or approximately 60 cents per person per month. This is after paying gasoline, gear, and other supplies.

$150 A YEAR TOP

The writer talked to Councillor Lapierre. It was towards 5 in the afternoon and the councillor had returned from his day's fishing. He was relaxing by doing a job of haying in the field attached to his cottage. After he had had his supper he would prepare his bait and get a few hours of sleep before it would again be 2:30 a.m. and time to bounce like a cork once more out to the fishing grounds. Meanwhile, with fishing the unprofitable industry that it is today, time must not be wasted that could be spent in raising a little hay, in doing some gardening—in brief, in anything that would help to keep the family above the dread starvation level.

By no stretch of the imagination could time spent in talking with Councillor Lapierre be described as time wasted. He was highly intelligent. He had a sturdy pride in his independence. To talk to him was to talk to an individual who, stripped of his possession by an alien economist world that he lacked the guide to master, still retained that intangible quality called human dignity.

In that respect Councillor Lapierre was a type. Meeting him was to meet all the 14,000 in-shore fishermen who are struggling to maintain a bare subsistence level in Nova Scotia.

The writer met several of them. He visited village after village. He talked with the fishermen by the roadside, in their homes, in their shacks as they sat down to eat and drink, and in the village general stores.

Everywhere the same story was the same. The majority of them, it is true, were doing better than Councillor Lapierre's wage of 60 cents per month. But none of them reported yearly earnings of more than $150. The closest to a success story that the writer uncovered in his inquiries in the neighborhood of Grand Deserf, of West Chatham, and West Jeddore, was the report of the local crew of three who, among them, managed to earn $12 in the previous week.

HOW THEY "LIVE"

The first question that naturally arises is:

How do the fishermen and their families live?

The second question, which is of even greater practical importance, is:

To what do they owe their plight?

In the judgment of the writer, after having studied the situation at close range, neither of those questions presents any overwhelming difficulty.

How do the fisher folk live? The answer is simple. They don't. By Councillor Lapierre's feats of haymaking, and by the gardens that are cultivated by weary men around their cottages after long hours at sea, they just barely manage to exist. They are actually at the subsistence level about which the Marxian economists talk.

UTILITIES EXPERT AT WORK—R. W. Beck is shown studying further data on the power question prior to reporting to the City Council Friday night, this time on transportation matters in particular. Following submission of his recommendations to the council, he left for Washington, D.C., but will be back in another 10 days to continue his work here.

To what do they owe their plight? The answer in this case is a little more complicated, because two-fold. Basically, the fishermen are in their present state of distress because they lack bargaining power. Almost alone among the workers of the world, they have failed to organize successfully to offset the assault upon their standard of living which mechanized mass production—in other words, the steam trawler—has launched.

There are only three steam trawlers operated by the great Maritime fish distributing companies. But they land 70 per cent of the fish which these concerns distribute. Consequently, they make the great companies independent of the dory fishermen. The latter and their catches on the dock. The great companies name their price. And the fishermen can take it or leave it. The companies, if need be, can get along without their fish, although in practice they never have to. Driven by their hand-to-mouth domestic economy, the fishermen are ready victims to the philosophy that half a loaf is better than no bread.

BIG COMPANIES DO WELL

Furthermore, there is no such thing as competition among the great companies for the fishermen's catches. Theoretically, if a fisherman is not satisfied with the price offered by one company, he can load his fish back onto his dory and go to another. For there are approximately half a dozen buyers in the field.

The fishermen, however, have tried doing just that. But in some mysterious way—the invention of the telephone and the fact that the great companies operate on the principle of one for all and all for one may be an explanation—the offer from the second or from the third buyers approached is never better than the first offer made, if it is as good. An actual, if not a legal, combine exists among the wealthy fishing companies as powerful in its field as any which the genius of a Rockefeller ever organized.

If the trawlers were not allowed to operate, the situation of the dory fishermen would alter overnight. The great companies would need the production of the fishermen if they wished to stay in business. Despite their allowances for depreciation, their princely bonuses to executives, and their other write-offs with a view to landing as close to red ink as possible when government commissions land in to investigate, the great fishing companies are making too much money to be prepared to cease operations.

POLITICS AS FACTOR

Thus, the remedy for the fishermen's plight is purely political. For the trawlers operate under license from the federal government. The licenses are revocable at the end of each fiscal year. They could be canceled by the federal authorities on March 31 of any year.

Three major governmental commissions of investigation have recommended against the trawlers. There was the MacLean Commission; then there was the Jones Commission; and, finally, the Royal Commission on Price Spreads was adverse to their use. How they have managed to continue is a mystery which the individual fishermen of the Maritimes shrewdly suspect can only be explained by the influence which the wealthy fish companies have with the two old-line parties. For while the Liberals are responsible for the conditions today, the Conservatives were no more active in remedying them when they were in power.

Ostensibly the excuse is that while only three Canadian trawlers operate off the Maritimes, upwards of 200 foreign trawlers operate in the same waters. Such an argument obviously overlooks the vital point that none of these foreign trawlers is delivering fish to the Canadian market and destroying the bargaining power of the dory fishermen.

BUT WHEAT GROWERS GUARANTEED

Last season the dory fishermen launched a campaign to have the government cancel the trawler licenses. The Halifax Herald and the Halifax Mail, newspapers which have championed the fishermen, regardless of which party was in power, co-operated with a factual editorial crusade to which no politician every attempted to answer. A monster petition with several thousand signatures was prepared by the fishermen who organized among themselves and forwarded it to the House of Commons.

What was the result? The petition had been prepared by fishermen who were not posted on the niceties of parliamentary language and official red tape. The politicians discovered technical irregularities about it. And they refused to receive it.

The trawler licenses were renewed for another year. The fishermen are back making a yearly wage of from $100 to $150 per year—except for Councillor Lapierre and his associates, who are earning a little better than 60 cents per month and some side money from the hay they grow.

Yet recently wheat growers on the prairies were guaranteed, by the same authorities who threw out the anti-trawler petition of the fishermen on grounds of minor technical irregularities, a minimum price of 80 cents per bushel for their product.

Do these facts not make more intelligible the note of discontent which the Maritime fishermen are contributing to federal politics?

HOME BUILDING FAIRLY ACTIVE

Home building activity in Saanich was renewed last week. Eleven permits were issued, including five for new homes. The total value of all permits was $14,185.

Permits for homes went to: James Best, for a six-room dwelling on Qu'Appelle Street, to cost $3,300; George Sellars, for a six-room dwelling on Cedar Hill Road to cost $2,800; J. W. Golly for a five-room dwelling on Windsor Place to cost $2,750; M. P. Spurgeon for a five-room dwelling on Ash Road to cost $2,000, and W. McKinty for a five-room dwelling on Rockwell Avenue to cost $2,000.

Permits for three new houses were taken out in Oak Bay during the week. They were as follows: J. Smith, six rooms at 977 Oliver Street, $2,600; J. Gray, five rooms at 2747 Cadboro Bay Road, $4,000, and J. H. Carver, five rooms at 2334 Oak Bay Avenue, $3,200.

There were no home permits issued in Esquimalt.

Prior to the wedding of Miss Louise Spencer and Mr. Kenneth Newbury in Vancouver on Wednesday afternoon, the bride and her attendants were photographed at "Aberthau," the home of her parents, Col. and Mrs. Victor Spencer. Above they are, left to right: Miss Myfanwy Spencer of Victoria, the Misses Diana and Barbara Spencer, the bride, and her youngest sister, "Bubbins" Spencer, Miss Betty Thomson and Miss Trudean Spencer.

MATSON-BENSON

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. D. Benson, 2170 The Esplanade, Oak Bay, announce the marriage of their second daughter, Margery Jane, to Mr. Herbert Turner (Tim) Matson, son of the late Mr. J. S. H. Matson and Mrs. Matson of "Mount Adelaide," Esquimalt, which was solemnized quietly in St. George's Church, Montreal, on Saturday by Ven. Archdeacon Gower. Miss Mary Martin and Mr. Kelly Heming, both formerly of Victoria, were in attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. Matson will return to Victoria almost immediately to take up their residence.

ATTWOOD-HUTCHISON

Centennial United Church was the setting of a pretty wedding on Saturday evening when Rev. Andrew D. Reid, D.D., united in marriage Beatrice Victoria, youngest daughter of Mr. R. Hutchison, 546 Ellice Street, and of the late Mrs. Hutchison, and Mr. Richard Thomas Attwood, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Attwood, 1214 May Street.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was charming in a princess gown of ivory lace with a slight train, worn with a tight-fitting pointed jacket with long sleeves. Her veil of illusion tulle was arranged beneath a peaked coronet of orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of red roses showered with swansonia.

Mrs. Gordon Fish, the matron of honor, wore a frock of turquoise blue net with a shoulder cape, and the bride's cousin, Miss Patricia Hutchison, was the other attendant and wore a bolero dress of sky blue net. They wore d'oyley hats of net to match their gowns, trimmed with pink bows at the back, and carried bouquets of pink carnations.

Mr. Gordon Fish was best man and Messrs. William Chandler and Gordon Hebbden were ushers. The organist played the wedding music and during the signing of the register Miss Sheila Conway sang "O Promise Me."

A reception was held after the service at the home of the bride's father, where he was assisted in receiving the guests by his daughter, Mrs. W. Chandler, in a frock of powder blue chiffon and a black hat, and by Mr. and Mrs. Attwood Sr., the latter wearing a black lace gown and a black hat. Mrs. Chandler and Mrs. Attwood wore corsage bouquets of carnations and roses.

The bride and groom welcomed the guests standing behind tall white pillars and baskets of flowers. Pink sweet peas predominated in the floral decorations in the house and the supper table was centred with a bride's cake, which was surrounded by a wreath of pastel sweet peas.

After a honeymoon trip to Vancouver and Seattle, for which the bride left in a beige suit with wolf cuffs and brown accessories, Mr. and Mrs. Attwood will return to Victoria to live. Miss Eleanor Hutchison of Los Angeles was an out-of-town guest.

MCKENZIE-ENTWISTLE

Gladioli and snapdragons were used as the floral background for the wedding of Marjorie Ada, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Entwistle of Alberni, to Mr. John Alexander McKenzie, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. McKenzie, at the residence of Mrs. J. McKenzie, Port Alberni. Rev. A. McLean officiated, and Mr. Raymond Blackman acted as groomsmen.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore ivory satin in Empire mode, her shoulder length tulle veil held in position with coronet of orange blossoms, and she carried a bouquet of pink carnations and snapdragons. Mrs. A. Dawson as matron of honor for her sister, wore sky blue georgette, fashioned with jacquette, and carried a bouquet of gladioli in shaded pink tones. Miss Donna McKenzie, sister of the bridegroom, was flower girl, in a Kate Greenaway frock of pink silk net, and carried a Victorian nosegay of sweet peas.

At the reception held at the residence of the bridegroom's parents, Mrs. Entwistle received the guests, gowning in floral brown georgette, assisted by Mrs. McKenzie, wearing black lace. A three-tiered wedding cake graced the bride's table, with roses in crystal vases and pink candles in silver sconces. Mr. and Mrs. McKenzie left later for Victoria, and will take up residence in Chemainus. For travel Mrs. McKenzie donned a hyacinth blue wool suit, with grey accessories. Out-of-town guests included Mr. J. G. Entwistle of Victoria, grandfather of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Welwood of Fanny Bay.

May Yohe, Former Stage Star, Dies Suddenly

BOSTON (AP)—Simple funeral services followed by cremation will be held Wednesday for May Yohe, stage star toast of two continents in the gay nineties, and, as the wife of Lord Francis Hope, once mistress of the famous—and reputedly unlucky—Hope diamond.

May, in her last years living in obscurity as a Works Progress Administrator bookkeeper, died yesterday in the arms of her retired soldier husband, Capt. John A. Smuts, in a modest Back Bay apartment. Doctors said a heart attack caused her death.

May was born in Bethlehem, Pa., in 1869, and went on the stage when she was 18. She quickly attained the status of a star in New York, and went to Europe to continue her stage successes.

Only recently she philosophized: "Whatever I do, I do with all my heart. I have learned in life's school that the only real independent woman is the one who can rub a few hundred dollars of her own earnings and savings together in her purse; a dead-broke woman is a football that any clown can kick."

She was born in 1869 at Bethlehem, Pa., of humble parentage. Her family was of the strict Moravian faith and theatres were "verboten." But she was determined to go on the stage.

CHURCH CHOIR GIRL

A church solo fixed the plan in her mind and sent her on to become the darling of American and English audiences.

Her choir singing led to such roles as Princess Pritivitz in "The Crystal Slipper" and Christopher in "Little Christopher Columbus." She made her London debut in "The Magic Oral" in 1893.

The following year she married Lord Francis Hope, heir to the Dukedom of Newcastle, and it was then the Hope diamond came into her life. For her husband's family owned the blue and sinister diamond once worn by Madame de Montespan, mistress of France's Louis XIV.

The diamond disappeared, along with other Hope family jewels, when Lord Hope was declared bankrupt.

ELOPED IN 1901

In 1901 May Yohe eloped with Captain Bradley Putnam Strong, American army officer and son of a New York mayor, and the following year she was divorced by Lord Hope. She then married Strong, but was divorced by him in 1910.

Four years later came her third marriage, to Captain Smuts, with whom she roamed the United States, ranching, running an inn at Marlboro, N.H., touring in vaudeville on occasion, and finally retirement in Boston.

In the early years of her stardom she was the friend of the Prince of Wales, later King Edward VII. Midway of her span of life she was a scrubwoman, a janitress and an entertainer in the cheapest theatres and halls of the western United States.

Vocational Classes to Start

Dominion-provincial Courses for Girls Arranged

Now that autumn is approaching, many girls who left school this summer will be wondering what they can do next. Others who may have left school some time ago and are discouraged in their search for employment, would like to find some way in which they could brush up the skills they have, or take some new training which will fit them for a position. For just such cases the training courses organized jointly by the Dominion-Provincial Youth Training Plan and the Y.W.C.A. have been planned, and will be reopening in September. The courses include shorthand, typing practice, salesmanship, dressmaking and household training.

The shorthand-typing practice class is a refresher course for qualified stenographers, to help them to keep up their speed in shorthand and typing. The class is under the instruction of Mr. Vaughan Pritchard and meets at the Victoria High School, Fernwood Road, every school day from 4 to 6 p.m. It is open to any unemployed girl or young woman between the ages of 16 and 30.

SALESMANSHIP
The salesmanship course covers such topics as customer service, knowledge of store system, merchandising, the customer's point of view, personal service, accuracy, promptness and personality. The instructor is Mrs. Leonard, and the classes are held in the Vocational School for Girls, Kingston Street School, but the first class will be held at the Y.W.C.A. on Tuesday evening, September 6, at 7.30.

The dressmaking course is intended to prepare young women for employment in private dressmaking and repairs, children's wear stores and factories, or departments specializing in repairs and alterations, or small businesses of their own. The instructor is Miss E. Callister, and the classes are held on regular school days from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., at the Kingston Street School. The course commences on Monday, September 19.

HOUSEHOLD TRAINING
This course includes training in the planning and preparation of meals, budgeting, table decoration and flower arrangement, the correct care of furniture and equipment, as well as of silver, brass and glassware; laundry work, child care, home nursing and personal hygiene, the duty of the hostess and the duty of the maid, guest service, as well as talks and demonstrations of games and stories to amuse children. The laboratory side of the work is supplemented by a period of practical experience living in the Practice House.

The instructor is Miss E. Clarke, and classes are given at Victoria West School, Front Street, on regular school days, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., and the new course will commence on September 19.

Registrations are now being taken at the Y.W.C.A. for all of the courses outlined above.

Modern Etiquette

By ROBERTA LEE

1. Is it considered poor taste for a man to put his arm around a girl in public?
2. When two men are walking with a girl, does she walk between them?
3. When a man is walking with two girls, does he walk between them?
4. Should you ever lend an article which you have borrowed?
5. Should you help yourself first before passing a box of candy you have just opened?

A friend offers his professional services as a friendly gesture outside of regular hours—such as a photographer taking your family pictures with your movie camera—

(a) Offer to pay him?
(b) Give him a gift or repay him with your hospitality later?
(c) Thank him and let it go at that?

Answers
1. Yes.
2. Yes.
3. No. Near the curb.
4. No.
5. No.

Best "What would you do" solution—(b). But be careful never to ask him for his services. Keep it on a business basis if possible.

C. H. Unwin is Fishing Champ

Sports Mirror

By PETE SALLAWAY

IT LONG SINCE has been pretty well established that only youth can survive blistering competitive golf, but the royal and ancient still appears to be an old man's game in so far as holes-in-one are concerned.

Jack Hagen, 58, won the New York World-Telegram tournament for the second time in six years by parking his fifth and last shot five inches from the pin.

Hagen beat the New Jersey winner, 53-year-old Tom McWalters, by half an inch.

Third was 54-year-old Tom McNamara, best in the Westchester section, whose No. 5 iron shot left his ball nine and a half inches from the 163-yard ninth hole of the Leewood Club course at Crestwood, N.Y.

In 1933, Hagen, first off the tee on a 143-yard hole of his own Salisbury Club, sank the first ace scored in the World-Telegram tournaments which started in 1932 with 217 players. He used the same No. 6 iron which brought him down in front this trip, when he once more was first off the tee of a 155-yard hole of the Bayside links.

Hagen, now the professional at Oceanside, once designed courses under the famous and late Joe Lannin. He built what was the No. 4 Salisbury course, now known as Matowac, and which is one of the 10 finest layouts in the United States.

McWalters hit his 5 1/2-inch on the 153-yard fifth of his home Forest Hill Field Club of Bloomfield, N.J., the same hole on which he sank his qualifier. He made the shot with a No. 5 iron.

McNamara was a member of America's first great golfing triumvirate, the other two having been Johnny McDermott and Mike Brady. He was first to break 70 in the United States open... at Englewood, N.J., in 1909, where and when he finished second to Bob MacDonald.

Anyone who previously has scored a hole-in-one is eligible for the World-Telegram tournament, which is the brain child of Joe Val of that newspaper's sports department, and which has grown to be one of the big events of the fairways. This year it attracted 742 men, women and youngsters, as against 680 in 1937, the former record.

Mrs. Elsie Muller McLeve, 1931 international women's speed skating champion and member of the 1932 U.S. Olympic team, turned in the most accurate shot ever fired by a woman in the tournament when her ball trickled to within one foot three inches from the hole used at Leewood, her home course.

There were 3,710 shots hit this year without a single hole-in-one. There have been 17,740 shots hit in seven tournaments and years, and there has been just three aces scored.

This gives you a fair idea of the percentage against a hole-in-one.

Lead British Empire and Cuban Fishermen in Tuna Competition

LIVERPOOL, N.S. — The United States team, two points ahead of the Cuban and British Empire teams in the international tuna fishing tournament, went out early this morning to stave off a last-day effort challenge.

The American fishermen caught 16 bluefin Saturday off this Nova Scotian seaport, counting points for the largest number of fish taken and the greatest total weight. Another point will be awarded for the largest fish of all those caught, but this has not been determined yet.

The Cuban team boated eight tuna, while the defending British Empire fishermen were unable to catch a single fish Saturday.

Fish taken during the competition have all been small, weighing approximately 50 pounds.

Lands 33-Pounder to Win Joker's Cup in International Salmon Derby

C. H. Unwin, a tall, elderly gent, sporting an old tweed hat, who breezed into the weighing-in headquarters early in the morning with a 33-pounder, captured the lion's share of the silverware yesterday at Brentwood in the big international salmon derby. The event attracted 15 fishing experts from Port Angeles, headed by the popular Dr. Cecil Hay, a former Victorian.

Sponsored by George "Joker" Patton and the Poodle Dog Cafe (Horace Beer) and held under the auspices of the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association, this classic attracted a large entry. While fishing wasn't anything to write home about, the hundreds of derbyists spent an enjoyable day on the sunlit Saanich Inlet waters.

Unwin hooked into the silver-coated gladiator at 10 in the morning off Bamberton, and gaffed it into his boat after a half-hour duel. He won the cherished Joker's International Cup, symbolic of the international championship, took the beautiful case of silver for first prize, and last, but no less cherished, his silver button.

The handsome silver coffee percolator set, complete with milk and sugar containers and a large silver tray, second prize, went to Reg Fleming Jr., who hooked a 28-pounder, while Mrs. L. Michelin and Bob Redgrave, with 19 1/2-pounders, were tied for third place. Mrs. Michelin won the toss to take the silver tea service, while Redgrave automatically won the fourth prize, an electric toaster. Fifth prize went to Ernest H. Clark with an 18-pounder. This prize was a stainless steel carving set. There was another tie for sixth prize, a silver casserole. L. McLellan won the toss from Mrs. H. Duncan. Both had 17 1/2-pound fish.

JUNIOR CHAMPION

Eight-year-old Desmond Payne was champion among junior anglers. This proud little fellow succeeded in reeling in a 15-pound specimen. He won a rod and reel. Miss R. Muckle won the women's consolation prize, an electric beater and attachments, while A. Proven was the winner of the men's consolation prize, a double automatic electric toaster.

There was a record turnout of fishers and non-fishers in attendance last evening at the wind-up ceremonies, which took place shortly after the firing of the closing gun at 6 on the Anchorage headquarters grounds. Tommy W. McPherson, president of the V.S.I.A.A., after welcoming the Port Angeles delegation, expressed his thanks to the sponsors, Patton and Beer, who, he said, were responsible for the fine prizes and the success of the competition. He then introduced Dr. Cecil Hay from Port Angeles, who presented the prizes. Mike Finland, M.P.P., spoke briefly.

During the afternoon the Canadian Legion Band was taken out on the Inlet and rendered selections. They also played at the wind-up.

Those in charge of weighing in during the day were "Joker" Patton, Tommy Rickinson, Elizabeth Wilson, Bill Rowe and Dave Cook.

Sarazen Winner

LAKE PLACID, N.Y. — Gene Sarazen of Brookfield Centre, Conn., shot two rounds of sub-par golf yesterday to win the $3,000 Lake Placid open tournament with a 72-hole score of 281.

Sarazen carded 70 and 68, seven under par, to win first prize money of $750. Stanley Horne of Ottawa finished second with 283, to win $500.

Blue Dash Victor

Beau Topp-Turner's English Setter Captures Field Trials at Cowichan

The entries in the all-stake were as follows: Harwood Nell, pointer, Reece Jones, Nanaimo; Cowichan Flash, Gordon setter, Jack Rithet, Victoria; Shaun of Sunnyside, Irish setter, Mrs. J. Lord, Victoria; Punch pointer, P. S. Hughes, Nanaimo; Tim, Irish setter, Tom Brown, James Island; Prince, English setter, T. Fisher, Victoria; Buck, English setter, W. S. DON M'KENZIE BANFF WINNER

Defeats Charlie Reid in Prince of Wales Golf Final

BANFF, Alta. — Don McKenzie of Calgary today held the Prince of Wales Trophy, premier prize at Banff's annual golf week. McKenzie defeated Charlie Reid, Banff veteran, 2 up in the 36-hole final Saturday.

A. M. Crawford of Calgary won a special medal handicap event with 69 and Eddie Wiseman of Regina, member of New York Americans of the National Hockey League, was second with 73.

Mrs. Crawford won the women's special medal event, and Mrs. Wilder Ripley of New York was runner-up with 86.

SALMON DERBY WINNERS—With one of the largest list of competitors in the history of the event, the international salmon derby was held yesterday at Brentwood under the auspices of the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association. The Times cameraman visited the Anchorage in the evening and snapped the winners seen above. At the top is C. H. Unwin with the 33-pounder which won him the Joker's International Cup and a silver button. In the centre is Mrs. L. Michelin with a 19 1/2-pound spring. Mrs. Michelin tied with Bob Redgrave for third prize and in the toss-up Mrs. Michelin won and took the award. North Shore Wins Easily

Turns Back Navy 6 to 1 in Province Cup Soccer Semifinal

Between 500 and 600 local soccer fans turned out at the Athletic Park Saturday afternoon to see what kind of ball Canada's champions play. The champs, North Shore from the mainland, were fighting the local Navy brigade in a Province Cup semifinal and came through on the top end of a 6 to 1 score to gain the final berth with St. Andrews.

But the fans didn't see much classy football. The opposition was not hot enough to force the mainlanders to exert themselves to any great extent or to use any of their more strategic manoeuvres. In the last half of the tussle North Shore left the impression with the fans that they could scoot down the field and run in a goal whenever they felt like it.

The local blueshirts were stacked up against the toughest opposition they have ever encountered, but nevertheless they tried to make a fight of it. The sailors were in excellent condition, but found the two fullbacks, Harrison and Cunningham, extremely difficult obstacles to hurdle and Jack Rabbit, between the sticks, picked off their shots expertly.

LEAD 2 to 0 at HALF

The North Shore gang had a 2 to 0 lead at the interval. They did most of the pressing in this session and while the R.C.N. put on the heat at brief intervals, they were unable to find the hem. North Shore got the first goal after 24 minutes, Jimmy Spencer, clever inside left, notching on McNabb's cross.

Louie DeCosta, Navy net-minder, who made some nice saves during the game, was out on the ground when the second goal was scored seven minutes later. He was injured in stopping a play by McManus, centre forward, and while he was down, Larsen shot the ball over to Alec Christie on the left wing, who scored into an empty net.

The Victoria squad showed more hustle in the last half and kept play in their opponents' end of the field for quite a while at times. The visitors didn't show much life until this stanza was half over. At this time they shot down the field and Liptrott took a pass from Larsen to score. Victoria immediately returned play to the other end, where Alec Ross, hustling centre-forward, piled in Victoria's only goal. The goalie missed Geddes's flag kick and Ross booted it into the hem. Soon after, McManus tallied North Shore's fifth marker and Spencer finished the scoring later. "Scotty" Dowds refereed.

Teams follow: North Shore—Rabbit, Cunningham, Harrison, Hewitt, Harvey, Wolfe, Liptrott, Larsen, McManus, Spencer and Christie. Navy—L. DeCosta, McDonald, Kennedy, Sands, Robinson, Gagnon, Geddes, W. DeCosta, Ross, DeCosta, Walker and Cockrill.

EDMONTON—Calgary Bronks displayed midseason form and evenly-balanced power throughout the lineup as they crushed Edmonton Eskimos 35 to 1 here Saturday in an exhibition football game.

Todd Is Medalist

Defending Champion Tops Field in City Golf Qualifying Round With 143

Jimmy Todd opened defence of his city amateur golf championship in grand style yesterday over the Victoria Club links. His home course, by capturing the medal honors over 36 holes with 143, to lead the field of 67 by four strokes. Todd had a 71 in the morning and was one stroke more in the afternoon.

Tied for second place with 147s were Walter Newcombe, Gorge Vale, last year's runner-up, and A. S. G. Musgrave, Oak Bay. The next position was also shared by R. Scott-Moncrieff, Oak Bay, and Bob Morrison, Uplands, with 148s. Harold Price followed with 150, while three players, G. Verley, Harold Lineham and Bill Newcombe, had 151s.

On his morning round Todd was out in 34, one over par, and back in 37, also one more than perfect figures. A six on the par 15th was Jimmy's only really bad hole. In the afternoon Todd put together a pair of 36s.

Scores of 156 or better gained the championship flight. Bobby Ford, Uplands, qualified but was forced to drop out through his leaving the city and as a result a playoff was not necessary for

BALL CLUBS WILL BATTLE TONIGHT

Eagles and Victoria Ball Club baseball nines will usher in their series for possession of the Rithet Cup, symbolic of the city championship, this evening at the Athletic Park. The game will start at 6.

Stan Davies, blond-thatched Eagles hurler, is expected to go to the hillock to do the twirling tonight, while Manager Tommy Restell of the Victoria Club will have Sonny Walker, Lloyd Cann, Ray Matland and Chuck Rowe to choose from for hurling duties. Eagles gained the final berth by defeating Pitzer and Nex in a series that was extended for an extra game.

Nanaimo Squad In Boxla Win

Fletchers Take Measure of Victoria Conservatives 19 to 11

Victoria Conservatives suffered a 19 to 11 defeat at the hands of the visiting Fletcher Bros. stickhandling aggregation from Nanaimo Saturday night when they met in an exhibition box lacrosse match in the Athletic Park arena.

The visitors were the better-balanced team and turned in a good exhibition of stickhandling, despite the fact it was their first appearance on a local grass-surfaced pitch.

Fletchers were held to a 3 to 3 tie in the first session, but forged ahead in the following quarter to establish a 7 to 5 lead at the halfway mark. In the closing two periods the uplanders ran in two goals to every one their opponents got.

One of the biggest obstacles in the way of the local side was "Slatt" Kingswood, lanky Nanaimo goaltender. He turned in a remarkable exhibition of net-minding and picked off the Victoria shots like a veteran. A Coleman, Victoria goalie, also turned in a creditable performance.

Ed Brynjolfson and Ted Menzies refereed.

Teams and scores follow: Fletcher Bros. (Nanaimo)—Kingswood, F. Cormons, 4, Johnston, 3, Watson, 1, Tesni, Miller, 2, Sidola, 3, Overcharick, Collette, 2, Good, 1 and Robinson, 3. Total 19.

Conservatives (Victoria)—A Coleman, Corness, Troughton, McSweeney, 1, G. Coleman, Entwistle, 4, Baker, 2, Carney, Foster, Rowe, 2, Reid, Singleton, Mair, 1 and Peebles. Total 11.

A handicap tournament will be held during December, final arrangements of which will be made at the next meeting.

Win Island Softball Crown

Pitches Four-hitter and Smacks Home Run to Blank Duncan 7 to 0

By Staff Representative
DUNCAN—Hurling a four-hit masterpiece and driving home four runs with a home run and three-bagger dynamic, auburn-haired "Rosy" McLellan led Victoria Camerons to the Vancouver Island senior A softball championship here yesterday afternoon. Camerons blanked Macmillan Electric 7 to 0 in the third and deciding game of the best of three series.

Attracting a big crowd, including a large delegation of Victoria fans, the game was fast with the clubs reeling off the nine innings in a little more than 60 minutes. Camerons played bang up ball behind the effective pitching of McLellan. Duncan, on the other hand, failed to stand up under the pressure and four costly errors were chalked against them.

McLellan, star of the Victoria team in its regular league games and post-season playoffs, was at his best. After his teammates got him a one-run lead in the first inning, "Rosy" literally burned them down the middle and was never in serious trouble. In the fifth inning McLellan drove a long hit to left center field for a home run with two of his mates resting on the sacks. In the ninth another terrific drive off McLellan's bat for three bases sent a runner scurrying across the plate.

BALDWIN CHASED

Baldwin, who turned back Camerons in the second game, started on the mound for Macmillans, but was chased to the showers in the fifth inning after allowing six runs in four and one-third innings. He was replaced by Ekdhall, who finished the game. Camerons collected a total of nine hits.

Camerons will now mark time until the British Columbia championship series against the mainland champions. The first two games of the best of three series will be played in Victoria, probably on Labor Day.

At the conclusion of yesterday's game G. E. Bonner, vice-president of the Midland Softball Association, presented the Buzz Francis Memorial Cup to Lonnie Murray, playing captain of Camerons.

A play-by-play description of the game follows:

FIRST INNING

Camerons—Baker grounded to Timothy. Munn laced a single over second. Murray grounded to Evans, Munn advancing to second. Emery's ground ball went through Stillin at second, Munn scoring on the error. McLellan lifted to Bennington in right field. Macmillans—Bennington flied to O'Connor in left. Timothy walked. Campbell was thrown out by Munn and Evans retired the side by popping to Dale in centre.

SECOND INNING

Camerons—Harris grounded to Evans. Dale hit safely over third and went to second on Evans' wild throw to first. O'Connor was a strikeout victim. Collier flied to Bennington.

Macmillans—Zizac was caught out by McLellan. Stillin grounded to Munn. Strouger was out Murray to Emery.

THIRD INNING

Camerons—Baker struck out after working the count to three and two. Munn was out on a fast throw by Evans at shortstop. Murray cut a clean single through short, but died on the bases when Emery went out to Mills unassisted.

Macmillans—Mills popped to Harris attempting to lay down a bunt. Baldwin struck out swinging. Bennington hit sharply to right field for two bases. Timothy drove the ball through the box for a single, but Bennington was thrown out at the plate on a perfect throw by Dale.

FOURTH INNING

City Council Briefs

A further effort to have the city stiffen its building regulations for the protection of license-paying contractors in a move to reduce building on a day labor basis, is made in a letter to the council from the Victoria Builders' Exchange Ltd. Enclosed with the communication is a copy of the Journal of Commerce, in which is an article stating Vancouver will shortly require an affidavit from people wishing to build on a day-labor basis before a building permit is granted. The affidavit would call upon those seeking the permit to show the building was for the owner's own personal use. "The exchange is of the opinion that all persons building should take out a builder's license, unless they are building for their own personal use, and would like to see the City of Victoria pass a similar by-law. This would mean additional revenue to the city and would be a squarer deal for the established builders."

An extension of one month in the time allowed for continuance of the Gospel Tent Mission is sought by Robert Grubb in a letter received today. The communication also expressed thanks for the use of the ground for the time it had been granted.

A proposition whereby he would take over management of the Athletic Park at a salary of $1 a year and devote monies received from the operation of the park for the purpose of sponsoring sports, "and as I may so see fit," is made to the City Council by Franklin K. Foss, Nanaimo, former athletic figure of Chilliwack. Mr. Foss invited investigation of his record at Chilliwack and full discussion of his plan.

When the city decides where it wishes iron ladders placed on the headwater, the Department of Public Works, Canada, will have them installed. J. P. Forde, district engineer, informed the city in writing today. The request for ladders was made some time ago by the city to provide some means of reaching the top of the headwater, for anyone in small boats who might be forced to seek safety and for anglers who fish from the lower ledges.

Flag Ceremony

The flag Alderman John A. Worthington donated to the city to fly from the top of the tower of Beacon Hill last presented by the Kapor Lumber Company to Victoria, will be raised at an official ceremony in the park on Thursday afternoon at 3. Arrangements for the function were announced today by Acting Mayor James Adams, chairman of the parks committee. Guests of honor at the function will be Kapor and Kapor Singh, who donated and erected the pole, members of the Pender family who provided paint for it and Alderman Worthington.

Illustrated addresses will be presented to Mayo and Kapor Singh, expressing the city's appreciation of their generosity.

McAdam Glad To Be Home

Acting Agent-General Visits City With Timber Party

W. A. "Billy" McAdam, whose engaging smile and warm personality have greeted hundreds of British Columbians visiting London in the last 15 years, is home again after an absence of six years.

Mr. McAdam, as acting agent-general for the province in the Empire's centre, has charge of British Columbia House, which maintains both business and social contacts for people from British Columbia.

His present visit is strictly business, for he is piloting the British and French timber importers' party.

"But," he said, "it is good to be home again. I am looking forward with the keenest interest to bringing myself up to date with conditions and developments throughout the province."

Immaculate in striped trousers and black coat at the Empress Hotel this morning, Mr. McAdam was busy arranging the details of the timber party's trip up island.

"This party," he commented, "is, I think, the largest number of industrialists who have ever visited the province in a body (30) from Britain and four from France), and I am extremely hopeful that this personal contact established between actual importers and our own timbermen will lead to increased business."

"We believe that the experience will enable each member to render better service to his United Kingdom customers by making available to them the knowledge he will acquire."

He said the party was thoroughly representative of the timber trade, adding that each member had paid his own transportation to British Columbia, which indicated they meant business. Within the province they are guests of the government.

The record response of the timber men to the government's invitation was the strongest possible testimony of the powerful impression which British Columbia has made on the British market," he said.

Paying tribute to the work of Douglas Roe, the British Columbia timber commissioner in London, and J. C. Berto, his assistant, Mr. McAdam said:

"Believe me, in a competitive market such as the United Kingdom business does not come of itself, and the steady rise of our timber import of 100,000,000 feet board measure in 1937 to nearly 650,000,000 feet in 1937 is a record of expansion which tells its own tale of the real hard work that lies behind it."

In other lines of trade, he said, there had been an increase in inquiries from exporters in the province. "We regard it as our prime function," he declared, "to develop and extend British Columbia trade in every way possible and wherever possible, and if there is a chance of business to be done we spare no effort to place inquiries in direct touch with responsible firms in the Old Country. And here I should like to proffer a word of advice. The United Kingdom is at once the most competitive and the most exacting market in the world. It is useless to approach it unless the exporter is assured of two things—continuity of supply and rigid adherence to grade or quality."

City employees, their families and friends to the number of approximately 450 joined in picnic festivities at Deep Cove on Saturday and heard words of praise from Sergeant A. H. Bishop, president of the civic federation, for Mayor Andrew McGavin and his 1938 council.

During the day a presentation was made to Sergeant Bishop by Charlie Morton as a token of the federation's appreciation of the work done by Mr. Bishop in organizing sports as well as picnics during recent years and in directing the affairs of the federation.

Mr. Bishop referred to the promise made by Mayor McGavin at the picnic of the former year to the effect that wages would be restored this year. Those restorations had been made, Mr. Bishop said, as he led cheers for the mayor.

The mayor replied fittingly, thanked the staff for its co-operation and expressed the hope the council would not have to deal with the wage problem again in the immediate future.

TOWN TOPICS.

Four motorists were fined $2.50 each by Magistrate Hall in City Police Court this morning for parking over one hour.

Theft of a mantle clock valued at $85 was reported to city police last night by Frank Thomson of Thomson's funeral parlors.

Stanley Ford, 1228 Chapman Street, reported to city police his car was stolen from outside the naval barracks, Esquimalt, at 8:20 last night.

Theft of his bicycle from the Gorge Vale Golf Club was reported to city police on Saturday evening by John Banister, 322 Edward Street.

A meeting of the Saanich Thistles football team will be held tomorrow evening in Alec's Hall, Burnside Road, at 7:30. All players are asked to attend.

Next Monday being a holiday the meeting of Associated Radio Technicians (Victoria section) will be held in the Y.M.C.A. Building tonight at 8. O. Kendall of Kendall Radio Laboratories will be the speaker.

A thief who used a stick to fish a purse out through the bedroom window of the home of Henry Waterworth, 1034 Richardson Street, on Saturday evening obtained $40, according to a city police report. The empty purse was found outside the house.

Building permits for the construction of a five-room home at 2987 Blackwood Street at a cost of $3,300, and for repairs to fire damage at 135 Croft Street, at a cost of $1,500, were issued by the city today to Harold Parfitt and A. Costello, respectively. Harry Caterall will be contractor for the latter job.

Adjournment until tomorrow was given by Magistrate Hall in City Police Court this morning in the case of John F. W. Drury, charged with obtaining money by means of a bad cheque from William R. Clarke, to permit the accused to produce the ledger of his cartage business. He faces two other smaller charges.

Maurice McGregor, one of the senior pilots with Trans-Canada Airlines and son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred McGregor, is visiting Victoria today with his wife and children. He is on 10 days' holiday, most of which he spent on his father's farm on Pender Island. Some months ago Mr. McGregor was transferred from Vancouver to Winnipeg, and is now flying the big mail planes from the "Peg to the coast."

A telegram was received today by the Times from Paul Luvera, president of the Anacortes Chamber of Commerce, extending his most sincere appreciation to Mr. Ernest Harris, president of the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce, as well as the City Council, for being most accommodating and gracious to the winners of their queen contest, who were visitors in the city last week. The telegram reads in part: "They will be boosters for your city and Mr. Harris for the rest of their lives, and the Chamber of Commerce of Anacortes hopes some day to reciprocate the favor."

CANAL WORTHLESS, FORDE DECLARES

Cut From Portage Inlet to Esquimalt Harbor of No Value, Says Engineer

The cutting of a canal between Portage Inlet and Esquimalt Harbor would have no beneficial result in flushing the Gorge and relieving the pollution problem, J. P. Forde, district engineer for the Federal Department of Public Works, informed the city in a letter received at the City Hall today.

"As the tidal waters from the two harbors in question would meet in the Gorge, resulting in a decided slack water area which would probably extend from the Gorge Bridge to Craigflower Bridge, the Gorge waters would not have the same opportunity to be drained out and replaced by tidal action as at present, and, as the bed of the Gorge contains many depressions, would continue to form resting places for objectionable material even if a decided tidal current were set up through the length of the entire channel, and it is, therefore, very doubtful whether the proposed work, which would be very expensive, would effect any improvement in conditions in the Gorge," Mr. Forde's letter said in part.

It also stated the matter appeared a problem for the provincial health department rather than the public works.

The Federal Food and Drug Administration, aided by a new law, is now protecting the public against dangerous cosmetics except in the class of toilet soaps.

Tells of Royal Canada Air Force

Interesting information regarding the Royal Canadian Air Force was given to the Gorge Club at its luncheon in the Empress Hotel today by Flight-Lieut. J. L. Plant of the Royal Canadian Air Force, a former Victoria man who attended the Victoria High School around 1925, and later went to Victoria College before graduating from U.B.C. He is now stationed at Regina.

The Royal Canadian Air Force was formed as such on April 1, 1924. There were other attempts to organize a flying force before this time which proved unsuccessful. From 1924 to 1931 the force operated as a civilian type aircraft. Aerial photography and forest fire patrol were its main work. They also trained pilots during this period.

In early 1932 the force was changed from civilian operations to a fighting force. At present there were 10 authorized squadrons in the permanent force, consisting of 200 officers and 2,000 men.

Assisting the permanent force are numerous nonpermanent active squadrons spread throughout Canada. These nonpermanent squadrons were to the air force what the militia was to the army.

The speaker also told, briefly, of the workings of Trans-Canada Airlines. He mentioned blind flying by the beam system.

Flight-Lieut. Plant was introduced by Hubert Lethaby, Everett Taylor, president, was in the chair.

During the luncheon, Bill Hudson introduced the Gorge district governor, William Tobey, from Prince Rupert, who spoke briefly to the members.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to go
The liver should pour out two pounds of bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest, 15 lbs. change in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Harsh poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, sore and the world looks pink.
A more bowed movement doesn't always get on the nose. You need pleasant going that the liver as well. It takes those good old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Marasmus and gas, they make the bile flow freely. They do the work of a catalyst but have no poison or mercury in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Scrupulously follow directions. See

Looks for Good
Theatre Season

George J. Nathan
Reviews Coming Stage
Plays On Broadway.

By RED FARAH

Canadian Press Staff Writer
NEW YORK (CP) — Most urbane of Manhattan's first nighters, George Jean Nathan, is back in the city this week, reading play scripts, industriously writing for his string of periodicals and awaiting the first hush of an audience as the curtain rises on a new theatre season.

Producers, playwrights and players in New York and other drama capitals, continuously are pouring information his way by various means of communication.
As a result, he was able to assure this correspondent with authority that the imminent season will be first class.

From London, for instance, Sean O'Casey's newest play will almost certainly be completed in time for production in New York this season. Although privy to its theme, he did not disclose it.

Also he had read the manuscript of "The White Steed," the new piece by Paul Vincent Carroll, author of last season's best imported play, "Shadow and Substance," and pronounced it better than its predecessor. It is a tender Irish love story, and Nathan thinks Julie Haydon, who is a success in the other Carroll drama, would do well in this too.
Nathan steered Miss Haydon into "Shadow and Substance" after reading the script. A report that Katharine Hepburn is dickering to buy an interest and play in "The White Steed" left Nathan unenthused.

"I don't think she'd be well advised to do it," he said.

NEW PLAYWRIGHTS

After the turning by several distinguished novelists away from the writing of books to the fashioning of plays, a phenomenon which has excited discussion lately, Nathan doesn't yet find it a matter for unrestrained cheering.

He didn't think much of novelist Thornton Wilder's piece,
"Our Town," which won the Pulitzer prize. On the other hand he thought novelist John Steinbeck's dramatization of his own story "Of Mice and Men," the best play of the season.

Unwilling to accept the newcomers on their reputations in the other medium, Nathan said their entry into the theatre will have value "if they do good work." At the same time, because of their prominence, they should stimulate greater interest in playwrighting among hundreds of young people. That will be fine, according to Nathan.

Capitol Film
Is Held Over

"Alexander's Ragtime Band" Plays to Capacity Audiences

Because he thought it was "the thing to do," Irving Berlin worked only at night during the first period of his sensational success. "Most of the important people on Broadway worked at night," he says, "and I thought it was required of an up-and-coming youngster."

Since his first success with
"Alexander's Ragtime Band" Berlin found that he works better in the daytime, and bright sunshine is even better for his work.

Two new Irving Berlin tunes
top the 26 favorites heard in 20th Century-Fox's spectacular dramatic-romance, "Alexander's Ragtime Band," which is being held over at the Capitol Theatre.
Tyronne Power, Alice Faye and Don Ameche are the stars in the stirring principal roles, with Ethel Merman and Jack Haley featured.

Salt Spring Club
Dance Success

The dance organized by the entertainment committee of the Salt Spring Island Golf Club and held in the Mahon Hall on Thursday evening, proved a huge success. Beautifully decorated in a color scheme shading from palest pink to deepest rose, the large hall presented a charming appearance, which was thoroughly appreciated by the 200 guests.

During the evening, the president of the club, Mr. Norman Wilson, called for the congratulations of the assembled guests for the secretary of the club, Mr.
Vernon Case-Morris and Mrs.
Morris, who were celebrating the 25th anniversary of their wedding, and for Mr. and Mrs. Frank Penrose, the anniversary of whose wedding occurred on August 26.

LANGFORD

Thursday at Langford Lodge
a social tea was held under the auspices of St. Matthew's Guild.
Tea was served on the veranda overlooking the lake, by Mrs. R.
J. Smith, Mrs. A. Cooper and
Mrs. C. Willard. The Misses
Josephine Seabrooke, Eileen Hincks and Joyce Maddock were waitresses.

Rev. R. E. M. Yerburch voiced the appreciation of the guild to the hostess, Mrs. L. Powers, for her kindness and hospitality, and presented her with a basket of fruit.

Dangerous Sharks

Do sharks ever bite and kill people?

The answer to that question is, "They certainly do!" When I say that, I do not mean that all sharks are dangerous. Some kinds have as little harm in them as tuna fish. Other kinds are enemies of the worst sort.

Underside of a hammerhead's head. There's an eye at each end of the "hammer."

On November 4, 1928, a boat race was held near the side of Balboa Bay, in the Panama Canal Zone. A young native of Panama was enjoying himself swimming, and for a time clung to a boat in which people were watching the event.

As the race ended, the swimmer let go of the boat, and started to shore, a distance of only about 200 feet. On the way he was attacked by a shark. To the horror of the crowd on the beach and in various boats, it struck him three or four times. Men raced to the rescue in a boat, and picked him up, but he was dead. Later a nine-foot shark was captured in the bay, and in it was found part of the youth's swimming suit.

The case was reported by Col. James M. Phalen. It is only one of many official records which proved beyond doubt that sharks sometimes attack human beings. The statements we sometimes read that sharks "don't kill people" are not to be trusted.

Now and then an expert may declare that the sharks which visit a certain bathing beach are not dangerous. This may be quite true for that beach, but we live in a big world, and a bathing beach is only a small part of the world.

White sharks, blue sharks and tiger sharks seem to be the most dangerous from man's viewpoint, but the strange-looking "hammerhead" shark should also be in our black book. Hammerheads grow to a length of about 15 feet, and are found in the warmer parts of the ocean. Col. Hugh D. Wise tells an amusing story about one of them. During his boyhood, he relates, he was alone in a dory off the Virginia coast when a hammerhead seized a large hook he had baited with a weakfish. The shark pulled hook, line, boat and boy at great speed past a fishing boat. One of the fishermen called out, "Where are you going?"

"This was a useless question," says Colonel Wise. "No one could have had less idea than I had of where I was going! I was on my way, however, and was going fast!"

The fishermen sailed to the rescue, and after a two-mile chase caught up with the dory. The hammerhead was then towed ashore and the fishermen seemed almost as excited as the boy about the capture.

HOROSCOPE

Tuesday, August 30, 1938

Conflicting planetary aspects are seen in the horoscope for today, according to astrology. It is a date fortunate for persons in authority in governmental positions.

Sensitiveness to weather conditions may accent nervousness and irritability. All should beware of quarrels. Caution in both the spoken and the written word should be exercised today.

Those who administer public funds should be careful to avoid even the appearance of evil. Susceptibility to the wiles of women will cause scandals that affect men in prominent places, astrologers prophesy. Secret quests for information of national significance may be numerous.

Aviation is subject to unfavorable planetary influences which may be revealed in accidents. Danger of sabotage is forecast for builders of airplanes.

Canada as well as the United States will profit through business improvement. Closer commercial relations between the two governments are prognosticated.

Decline of totalitarian dictatorships is prophesied, but at first it will be slow, astrologers believe. A minor occurrence is to loom large on the international horizon.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of good luck that is accompanied by unexpected events. Money should be more plentiful than heretofore.

Children born on this day probably will be high-strung, independent and talented. Subjects of this sign often combine artistic and practical bent.

LIVES TO TALK TO GODS, PLAY POWER AND WEAR LOUD TIE.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

Hundreds upon hundreds of letters come to his column from girls who pathetically state that they are pretty, well educated, intelligent; that they dance well and are good sports; that their parents have given them cars, entertained for them and done everything in their power to make them popular and help them have good times, but for all of this they sit at home of evenings, figuratively sucking their thumbs and watching the fun that girls with not half their good looks or advantages have. When they go out it is with Mamma or Papa or a group of other girls. At dances they are wallflowers, or some lad, prodded by his mother or the hostess, asks them for a turn with the air of a lamb being led to the slaughter.

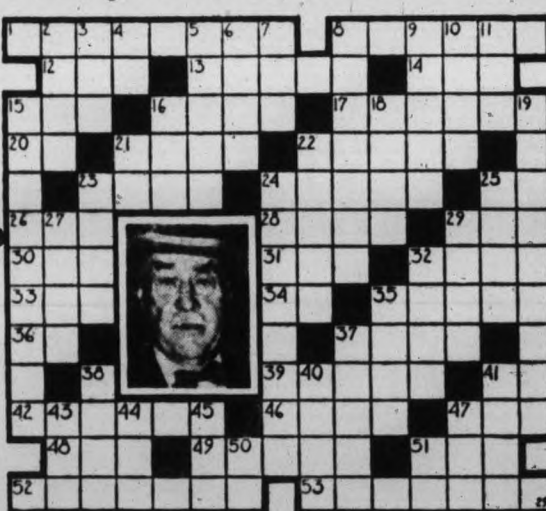

And the girls want to know why this is thus. No one knows the answer. They ask how they can make themselves popular and have boys swarming around them like bees about a honeypot, but no Solomon has arisen to solve that problem either.

So you can only wonder, with pity as well as with scorn, why any girl who has plenty of decent pleasures and amusements and the whole world of interests open to her regards herself as a failure; why she is unhappy and bitter because she is not dated up by men whose attentions she believes are dishonorable, and who expect her to get drunk and carouse with them when they take her out for a good time.

The only consolation that I can offer these girls who are heart-broken because of their lack of attraction for men is to remind them that their cases are not hopeless. Men differ in tastes about girls as they do about food and amusements and the very qualities that left the herd of men cold may be the very thing that will fire the fancy of some individual man. Also, girls should bear in mind the fact that popularity does not necessarily mean matrimony. Because a man dates a girl doesn't indicate that he will pop the question to her. It is notorious that belles seldom make good marriages, while many an Alice-who-sits-by-the-fire cops the catch of the season.
